OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government will set up a new public service and educational broadcasting system across Canada, it was announced Monday.

This means Ontario, Quebec or other provinces planning to enter the educational broadcasting field will not be granted licences to operate their own stations.

The white paper on broadcasting tabled in the Commons Monday says Ottawa will work directly with the provinces in planning the educational system, but the federal government will own and operate the stations.

A new federal agency, separate from the CBC and subject to the regulations of the Board of Broadcast Governors will be created.

CBC Boss May Be Out

By RON COLLISTER

OTTAWA — The federal government's white paper on broadcasting is a vote of non-confidence in CBC president J. Alphonse Ouimet and his executives, opposition leader Diefenbaker declared last night.

Not so, said State Secretary LaMarsh, the minister who reports to the cabinet for the CBC.

But Miss LaMarsh would not say if Mr. Ouimet will be reappointed when legislative changes are made some time next year, weakening CBC powers and beefing up the Board of Broadcast Governors as the super-power in Canadian broadcasting.

Mr. Ouimet was reported analyzing the white paper, contemplating his future and pondering whether to resign. The white paper calls for a president who would be chairman of the CBC board of directors and responsible for broad policy, and a chief executive officer who would govern all CBC operations and report to the board.

Asked if Mr. Ouimet would continue as president, Miss LaMarsh said: "I don't know. It would be a new appointment after there was a new act (next year). I don't know if he would wish to serve or the government would wish to appoint him."

Miss LaMarsh said Mr. Ouimet "has shown a great deal of courage in the past months" while under fire over the controversy over This Hour Has Seven Days, and added:

"I can't say I have had hundreds of people rushing to me to be president of the CBC."

The minister said the intention is to create two jobs for two different kinds of people. The president at the top would be a man of "considerable breadth, a creatively-oriented person, who has a strong concept of the country and its needs."

$30,000,000 Program

Ottawa Plans Rescue Fleet

VANCOUVER (CP) — A federal transport department official said Monday the government will spend $30,000,000 on a deepsea rescue fleet for the west and east coasts.

Gordon Stead, assistant deputy transport minister in charge of marine services, said plans for six of the vessels are in the design stage.

The news caused Harold Husar, president of Victoria Machinery Depot, and John Wallace, general manager of Yarrow's, to say their shipyards hope to bid on the west-coast part of the fleet.

TENDERS SOON

Tenders for construction of the first of the $5,000,000 ships will be called by the government in the next few weeks, Mr. Stead said. It will go into service in the maritimes in two years and the second vessel of the fleet will join the west coast service three years from now.

Mr. Stead, an Ottawa-based economist, was in Vancouver for the official acceptance of the Canadian Coast Guard ship Vancouver and the christening of its sister ship, the Quadra, Monday night.

CRITICISM NOTED

He said that since the Canadian Coast Guard was formed under his direction five years ago from the old Canadian Marine Service, there has been "quite a bit" of criticism over the lack of deepsea rescue vessels.

Mr. Stead said the Coast Guard has been forced to confine most of its marine rescue activities to coastal waters because of the limited size of the rescue vessels at its disposal.

WITH HELICOPTER

All of the deepsea ships would be approximately 234 feet in length. They would be capable of a top speed of 20 knots and equipped with helicopters. B.C. would get two, the Maritimes four.

"The need seems to be more severe in the east," said Mr. Stead.

President — Easily

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — Air Force Gen. Rene Barrientos Monday appeared to have won easy election to the Bolivian presidency. With nearly half of the votes counted, he led his closest rival by more than 180,000 votes.

Queen Brick Target

BELFAST (AP) — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip narrowly escaped injury Monday when part of a heavy cement block crashed on to their car as they drove through the streets of this tense Northern Ireland capital.

The block, thrown from the fourth floor of a building under reconstruction, hit the radiator of the royal limousine.

Had it fallen a few feet further back it would have shattered the bubble-top glass covering above the Queen's head.

YOUTH SEIZED

Police rushed into the building and seized a youth. They had to smuggle him out a back way to prevent his being lynched by a howling crowd of angry Belfast citizens.

Only two minutes earlier, as the royal couple left the city hall after a civic luncheon, a woman rushed out of a hotel opposite and hurled a beer bottle at their car. It burst near the wheels. She, too, was arrested.

CAR SPEEDS AWAY

When the cement block hit the royal car, the Queen and Philip looked shocked. The car sped away but, after turning a corner a few yards up the street, resumed the normal stately speed along the processional route.

"The crowd went wild," said Gerald Lappin, who works next door to the building from which the block was thrown. "The Queen and the Duke (Prince Philip) seemed shocked, but they remained very calm."

Holy Rings!

VANCOUVER (CP) — Calling the Dynamic Duo, there's thieves afoot!

Thieves struck at a parked truck over the weekend and stole 1,800 assorted Bauman rings. They left a slingshot behind.

Tougher Rules For TV, Radio Due Next Year

By RON COLLISTER

OTTAWA — A more powerful Board of Broadcast Governors will have the authority to force Canadian television and radio stations to improve programs, especially in the evenings.

Big Ship Sinking

MIAMI (UPI) — The Miami Coast Guard said early today the crew of a 418-foot freighter reported sinking in the Yucatan Channel has apparently abandoned ship. Two rescue ships are on the way.

The Coast Guard said the radio of the Greek freighter Elias Dayfas had been placed on an automatic distress signal. There was no report on the size of the crew.

Haiphong Protests Boil Everywhere

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Protests over U.S. air attacks on the Hanoi-Haiphong area in North Viet Nam rang out around the world Monday.

About 4,500 Japanese police shielded U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk from demonstrators as he arrived in Tokyo for an economic conference. Rusk had to be hustled into the city by a back road.

Shouting "Rusk go home" and carrying placards reading "go home boss of war," the demonstrators lined the main airport highway. Estimates of the number of demonstrators ranged from 30,000 down to 5,000.

In London, Prime Minister Wilson gave way to demands from his party's left wing and scheduled a debate in the House of Commons Thursday on the American bombing.

There were two anti-American demonstrations, one at the U.S. Embassy and another at a July 4 reception given by U.S. Ambassador David Bruce.

Elsewhere:

Reykjavik — About 50 Icelandic communists demonstrated quietly outside the American Embassy.

Frankfurt — West German demonstrators hung a banner reading, "1776 independence for the U.S.A., for Viet Nam independence now," across the street from the U.S. consulate.

Hamburg — About 3,000 persons marched from Hamburg University to the U.S. consulate.

Manila — About 500 demonstrators paraded through Manila's Bohemian Schwabing district.

Stockholm — Twenty youths continued a fast in a Swedish protest against the bombings. They set on a street adjoining the U.S. Embassy.

Youths Blown Into Sea

Two Central Saanich youths were blasted into the water in Brentwood Bay when their boat blew up and sank in minutes at 9 p.m. Monday, but a fisheries department boat arrived in seconds.

Alan McWilliam, 20, of 937 Marchand, is in satisfactory condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital suffering extensive burns. Boat owner Ian Laddell, 20, of 7020 Brentwood, is in good condition in Rest Haven Hospital in Sidney with second-degree burns to his face, arms and hands.

The two were a few hundred yards from the Anchorage boat moorage, operated by George McWilliam, father of Alan.

Witnesses said the youths had just finished boating a 25-pound salmon after an hour-long battle when the 26-foot cruiser's gas supply blew up for unknown reasons.

Patriotic Party

Ultra-Rightists Enter Politics

By D. J. E. BRUCKNER

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (LAT) — The New Patriotic Party has set up organizations in 43 states and has arranged for election of officers and establishment of party machinery in four other states, the provisional president of the new organization announced Monday.

The organizations set up this weekend consist primarily of state party officers who will return to the states to organize the party at a grassroots level, he said.

Robert B. DePugh, national co-ordinator of the radical right-wing paramilitary group, The Minutemen, is acting as head of the new party for the next year. He made the announcement of state organ-

Bombers Hit Key Targets

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. air power continued to hit enemy targets in both North and South Viet Nam, spokesmen reported Monday. Key targets were a strategic oil depot near Haiphong and a missile site near Hanoi in the North and Viet Cong guerrilla concentrations in the South.

The Patriots hope to run candidates for Congress in 1968 and 1970 and a presidential ticket in 1972.

According to DePugh, the Patriotic Party is intended to he hopes to see a nationwide burst of enthusiasm for the party within the next 90 days and he called that period critical for the survival of the party.

Delegates included members of a number of ultra-conservative groups, but DePugh said they were attending as individuals, not as official group representatives in most cases.

CBC Boss Out?

The chief executive officer would be a day-to-day operator. Miss LaMarsh said she "flatly denies there was any suggestion of doing anything to Mr. Oumet."

Mr. Oumet is not being pushed upstairs to chairman of the board — "It's a more important role than that. That sounds as if you are retiring someone."

For example, the chief executive officer would have been under fire in the Seven Days affair had the white paper been in effect, not the president, who could have been "the man with the open door, open to everyone."

But Mr. Diefenbaker said the white paper "completely circumvents" Mr. Oumet's position. "All he is, is a figurehead without a name."

Complete Answer Not Given In 'X-Rays Were Negative'

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Sometimes I wonder if we wouldn't get along at least as well if we discarded the expression, "X-rays were negative." Not that the phrase isn't explicit when properly understood, but it has come to be a cliché, and like most clichés, it has generally lost its pure original meaning.

A negative finding in an X-ray doesn't mean that everything is all right; it just means that the X-ray didn't disclose anything wrong. Indispensable as the X-ray is, it can't do everything or see everything.

An X-ray indicates the density of tissues through which the rays pass. Bones, being dense, appear as heavy shadows. Flesh, not so dense, throws a lighter shadow. From this fact we can deduce a great many things — but not everything.

DYE NEEDED

An X-ray of a gall bladder isn't allowed to filter into the organ first. The same is true of gastro-intestinal X-rays. A barium drink or barium enema fills the intestine with a solution through which X-rays do not pass easily, and a sharp outline of the intestine results. Often dye is introduced into the bloodstream to make blood vessels visible. In the common and very valuable chest X-ray, air in the lungs is less dense than surrounding flesh, so irregularity or creases in the lung become visible. Calcified spots (healed areas) will show.

OTHER TESTS

X-ray won't begin to show early cancer of the cervix, but a pap smear will. X-ray doesn't show diabetes, or anemia, but blood tests will. So accept X-ray for the things it does so well; don't use the phrase "X-rays were negative" as meaning that everything is all right. Some other test may be necessary to make visible whatever is wrong. That, indeed, is the reason for exploratory surgery at times.

One letter before me asks: Will cancer show up in an X-ray? We are in close contact with a person who says he has several spots on the lungs and it is hopeless cancer. Could the spots be TB? Should we be checked? — MRS. J. K. C.

In such a case an expert at reading X-rays would have little difficulty in distinguishing between the characteristics patterns of the two diseases. A sputum test, however, would make things quite definite. Cancer and TB could exist at the same time.

A man with ear trouble asks: Why don't they ever seem to take X-rays of ears? Won't the inner ear show? — E. K. K.

X-ray in some instances can be useful, but the heavy bone structure of the skull makes it difficult, and conventional methods of examination give more information. To get back to "negative" and "positive," a married woman writes:

I was given a urine test which the doctor said proved positive. What does this mean? That I am positively pregnant? — MRS. H. R.

It's difficult to tell. It could have been a pregnancy test, or a test for diabetes, or for general disease, even. It depends on the test. He probably meant that the urine test for pregnancy indicated you were pregnant.

That's why I think these terms are getting out of hand.

Means Test Assailed By Tories and NDP

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said in the Commons Monday his party will oppose any government plan calling for a means test to increase old age pensions.

"There is nothing meaner than a means test," said the Conservative leader as the opposition parties continued debate on second reading of the Canada Assistance Plan to co-ordinate and extend existing welfare measures.

PASSAGE BLOCKED

The bill has been before the Commons for a week. Conservative and New Democratic Party MPs have blocked passage of the measure with repeated demands the present $75 old age pension be increased to $100 monthly without a means test.

Mr. Diefenbaker referred to press reports Health Minister MacEachen will announce $30 extra to old age pensioners whose income falls below a certain level.

The press reports had made

Diefenbaker

Mr. MacEachen's expected announcement "as public as the sun." But the Conservatives were against any plan involving a means test.

Stanley Knowles (NDP—Win-ipeg North Centre) said his party too is opposed to a means test for the extra payments.

David Lewis (NDP—York South) urged that pensions be raised to $100 a month immediately, without a means test. Robert McCleave (PC—Hastings) said "something has to be done in a dramatic way" to show Parliament is not writing off members of a generation unable to care for themselves.

Barry Mathers (NDP—New Westminster) said many leading newspapers, not normally supporters of advanced social legislation, are advocating increased aid for the elderly.

BILL DOWNGRADED

David Groos (L—Victoria, B.C.) said that while most speakers have argued in favor of the Canada Assistance Plan, he was afraid the bill was being downgraded. It was a major step forward in public welfare and held out the hope that those living on relief would be given the opportunity of being self-supporting again.

Robert Coates (PC—Cumberland) repeated Conservative demands for a $100-a-month universal old age pension without a means test.

David Orlikow (NDP—Winnipeg North) said he would be in favor of the Commons sitting all summer if it would result in the old-age pensioner getting an extra $25 added to the present pension of $75.

No Protest On Blast By France

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has not made any formal protest to France regarding that country's recent atmospheric test of a nuclear weapon in the South Pacific, External Affairs Minister Martin said Monday.

He said Canada had already said in the past she hoped both France and China would adhere to the international test-ban agreement, even though they had not signed it.

Red Rift Widening?

BUCHAREST (AP)—A summit conference of seven East European Communist countries opened here Monday with indications of a sharp disagreement between the Soviet Union and the host country, Romania.

Leaders from the other five other countries began going away within 45 minutes.

But Leonid Brezhnev, secretary of the Soviet Communist party, and Nicolae Ceausescu, secretary of the Romanian party, stayed behind for three more hours of talks.

When they left the palace late Monday night, separately, they looked serious.

An explanation of the long, secret session was not immediately available.

But the indications were some sort of compromise patched up

Chinese Co-eds Dedicated to Mao and Work

By DAVID OANCLA
From Peking

There was not the turmoil at the College of Iron and Steel Technology when I visited it as there was at Peking University in the wake of the purge. But its absence did not mean that the modern new institution had been passed over by the "great socialist cultural revolution."

The co-eds took great pains to convince me that they were participating enthusiastically.

"We feel very indignant over the way Teng To and his gangster gang opposed the Communist Party, socialism and his thoughts of Mao Tse-tung," said one of them.

She was one of about 15 girls I met in a large bedroom in one of the college's two-story brick dormitories. She and her 11 classmates shared the room and slept in the double bunks that lined the walls.

"We will never allow Teng To to restore capitalism because if he succeeds we will be reduced to being farmhands for landlords or maids in landlords' homes," she added.

Teng To was one of the men swept from office in the purge of the Communist Party's upper echelons, cultural and educational institutions. He was secretary of the Peking Party Branch.

Ousted at the same time was Liu Ping, president of Peking University — an ouster that touched off a wave of emotionally-charged demonstrations directed at teachers, party officials and administrators charged with being "bourgeois."

Grouped around six desks formed into table in centre of dormitory, are some of Chinese students at College of Iron and Steel Technology interviewed by David Oancla, who also took this picture.

Baited by Students

In these heartless manifestations eminent scholars were made to wear dunce's caps and sit on high stools while students baited them and "big character notices" of their alleged crimes were plastered inside and outside most buildings.

I visited the iron and steel institute three days before the gathering storm broke at Peking University. At that time I was told that since students love chairman Mao's writings they had organized themselves into 900 groups to study them.

Courses in Marxism, Leninism and Mao's thoughts were compulsory during the first three years of the five-year course and students usually participated voluntarily during their Saturday afternoon break from lectures in political work.

The girls I spoke with in the bedroom were well versed in the current themes. They knew all about Teng To and his "gangster den" and they recited the crimes attributed to him. They also talked about their hopes and aspirations in a way that would almost make you believe that the people as well as the buildings, equipment and tree-lined roads — were new.

Only in convents and in Hitlerite colonies have I encountered the devotion to purity and the dedication to duty that they described to me.

"China's third nuclear test explosion has given us great inspiration," said one of the girls when the talk turned to boy friends, love and marriage. It was an inspiration to repress personal cravings and to give all their talent and energy to the development of the country's industrial and economic might.

Boy Friends Out

Makeup and boy friends? "They affect our studies too much," said a lanky Shan-tungese. "I'll consider the question after I graduate."

One said the situation in China asks in the world demands that they should all concentrate on acquiring knowledge, studying chairman Mao's work and developing mentally and physically to contribute to revolution at home and abroad.

Only one conceded that she sometimes thought of boys and love. She said she tried to banish such thoughts and that she did not think it would be too late to consider marriage after she was 30.

Revisionism they described as anathema and they talked of tempering themselves in the countryside and in the factories through integration with peasants and workers.

Lives On Campus

Chu said the college now has a student body of 5,000 — 800 of them women — and a teaching staff of 900. The college has six departments providing instruction in mining, metallurgy, metal technology, steel processing, mechanics and physical chemistry.

The Chinese scholar lives on the campus and, if he is in one of the smaller dormitory rooms, shares a bedroom with five classmates. There are no tuition fees or payments for rent or medical services.

His family usually must try to find the equivalent of $6.80 a month for food and any funds needed for incidental expenses. But if the family is poor and the student promising, the state is ready to assist with stipends to cover minimum living costs.

Every year of school, he must put in four weeks of unpaid labor in factories or mines associated with his studies and on graduation he must work for a year as a laborer for pay of about $20 a month.

During his first year of work as a technician he earns about $25 a month. If he reaches the top in his field, he can expect to earn under present conditions about $150 a month. This is the amount paid to the top professor in the college. The average, however, is in the neighborhood of $35 a month.

Living costs are low. A professor may pay three per cent of his salary for a four or five room apartment and food is relatively cheap and prices are stable.

But the co-eds I spoke with talked not at all of monetary returns and almost exclusively about doing their duty.

"Before liberation China was backward industrially," said one of them. "Even now the iron and steel industry is not very advanced. We must make our contribution and to do this we must study chairman Mao's thoughts and put politics in command."

Many years ago, part of Canada was missing.

This part.

When you look back, Canada has done a lot of filling in, hasn't it?

Take a look at the top map. 100 years ago, the wide open spaces were exactly that.

East was east and west was west, and the train weren't meeting.

In fact, the existence of Canada as a nation hung in the balance.

That's where we came in: Canadian Pacific.

Our people built a railway. Over plains and hills and rivers and through the mountains. Across a wild land people said could never be lived in at all.

When the last spike was driven in 1885, east and west were joined together. Today the nation thrives and grows. It looks forward to a bright future.

And today, Canadian Pacific people serve more Canadians in more ways than ever before.

You may think we sound proud of our past. We are. But we're excited about our future.

And yours.

Canadian Pacific

Serving you in so many ways.

Relief Sighted To Ease Heat Wave

CHICAGO (AP) — The worst heat wave in recent years continued to bake the U.S. middle Atlantic states Monday, but relief from 100-plus temperatures was on the way.

In New York City and Philadelphia, temperature readings hit the 100 mark for the third consecutive day. Residents of Harrisburg, Pa., sweltered in 104-degree heat, also for the third consecutive day.

OVER 100

From Maryland to New York, thermometers topped the 100 mark.

Philadelphia's 100-degree reading marked the first time in the 95 years of weather records in that city that the temperature has climbed to 100 or higher on more than two consecutive days.

Orphanage Invests In Stocks, Bonds

Legacies and bequests gave the B.C. Protestant Orphanage $230,686 during its last two fiscal years.

The financial status of the institution, which has been criticized by some for accumulating a "nest egg," was discovered Monday in a search of documents filed with the B.C. registrar of societies.

The latest additions to the file are financial statements for the years ending Nov. 30, 1964, and Nov. 30, 1965, both received by the registrar on June 10.

At the end of the latest fiscal year, it had $300,148.68 invested in bonds and debentures.

This year, the orphanage had 40 children in residence, none of them orphans. Its bylaws state that its facilities need not be open only to orphans, but they must be Protestants and are required to say prayers "approved by the committee." The bylaws state children must read portions of the Old and New Testaments each day.

1965 STATEMENT

Here are other extracts from the orphanage's 1965 financial statement:

Included in total disbursements of $234,120.35 were bond purchases and other investments of $104,065.

Clothing and boots required $33.14 of the orphanage's funds, books and stationery $143.98, drugs $96.19, food $5,903.35 and salaries and wages $34,517.73.

LEGACIES, BEQUESTS

During the same year, legacies and bequests came to $175,108.23, sundry donations $4,073, maintenance fees $10,344.50 and income from bonds and shares $21,103.54.

During the 1964 fiscal year, it spent $54,737.52 on bonds and debentures, $10.31 on books and stationery, $661.64 on clothing and boots, $5,825.28 on food and $32,512.82 on salaries and wages.

This spending was satisfied by sundry donations of $4,417.44, maintenance fees of $10,974.26, income from bonds and shares of $17,616.66, legacies and bequests of $55,578.26 and a Toll Authority bond of $24,000, among other items.

DIRECTORS

Its latest statement says there were 40 voting members and lists the following directors: Rev. Cecil Barber, Charles Ellington, J. N. Fraser, R. W. Hampton, C. E. Holder, D. G. J. Humphries, Ald. C. M. Parrott, Bishop D. A. G. Ranklor, F. M. Shandley, H. B. Smith, M. H. Smith and Ed Williams.

They include retired persons, ministers, a real estate official, trust company executive, teacher, civil servant, accountant and a lawyer.

The orphanage, on 12 acres at Hillside and Cook, shows the real value of this asset at $1—the nominal fee for acquiring the site. An asset in North Vancouver cost $42.80 to acquire.

Building Values Fall in City By 15 Per Cent

The value of building permits issued in Victoria during the first half of 1966 dropped more than 15 per cent from the same period a year ago.

City Hall said Monday the half-year total value for 1966 was $7,446,709 compared to $9,275,370 a year ago. The number of permits fell from 2,914 last year to 2,726. Totals for June were 486 permits involving $2,244,454 last year and 401 permits valued at $1,645,000 this time.

City contractors unanimously blame a critical lack of mortgage money for the decline in building activity. One firm said it is "hung up on a couple of big jobs" because money simply is not to be had at reasonable rates. This company hoped conditions would return to something approaching normal within a year.

Born at Redhill, Surrey, England, Insp. Ledoux was educated at Dulwich College and came to B.C. in the early 1920s.

Prior to being absorbed in the RCMP 16 years ago, he was 22 years with the old B.C. Provincial Police, serving at Nanaimo, Kamloops, Vancouver and Victoria. In the RCMP, he served at Vancouver and with its special branch at Montreal.

It was during his B.C. Police service that Insp. Ledoux won fame for his work in the investigation of major crimes, ranging from fraud to bank robbery and murder.

For years his work in probing fraud rackets made him the nemesis of confidence tricksters. It was in the course of some of these investigations that he travelled Canada and the United States, and on occasion visited England.

He was well-known as one of the province's earliest demonstrators of the scientific approach to criminal investigation, and his interest in pathology.

Parkland Boosted

The boundary of Elk Falls provincial park three miles southwest of Campbell River was enlarged Monday by nearly 130 acres.

A boundary extension approved by the provincial cabinet will give the park more Quinlan River frontage and allow for eventual expansion of park facilities.

Part of the property was a former suppression crew campsite which the B.C. Forest Service closed and made available to the parks branch.

Esquimalt Happy with Service

Fire-Police Plan Continues

Esquimalt's double-duty fire-police department will continue its dual role, council ruled Monday night.

Fire committee chairman James Bryant told council the present setup was working well and that change now would amount to an eight-mill tax increase to Esquimalt ratepayers, an increase of between $40 and $90 a year.

OUTSTANDING SERVICE

The level of service given by the department to the municipality is outstanding and we are of the opinion that to change it at this time would not only create an uneeded and unnecessary burden on the taxpayers, but could vary the excellent service and protection now given by the present setup," he said.

It was disclosed Monday that a report prepared at the request of Esquimalt by the B.C. fire marshal's office suggests a separate fire department.

Wickheim Best Birler

Jubiel Wickheim of Sooke Monday became United States log-birling champion.

Competing at Muskegon, Mich., he dumped all competitors to bring the American trophy to Canada.

This is the first time the International Log Rolling Association has sanctioned a U.S. championship.

ALL-SOOKIE TITLE

On Saturday, Jubiel will be trying to retain his Canadian trophy in loggers' sports at All-Sooke Day.

He and his brother, Ardiel, have won the Sooke log-birling championships now sanctioned as the Canadian championship between them since 1964.

Last year, their cousin John, from Bremerton, Wash., put up stiff competition but the cup remained with Jubiel.

Between them the Wickheims have won the world championship 11 times.

HINT TO OTTAWA

Ottawa should give Canadians some real incentives to "quit Canada buck," says W. H. Rees, former president of Canadian Oils and now a director of Mutual Life of Canada.

Addressing the annual shareholders' conference of Mutual Life

"So far I haven't reached word out of Ottawa as to why that isn't a worthwhile plan," he said.

He urged Canadians to be less and invest more in their own country, adding that Canadians were not only using current earnings but supporting them each year, selling off some of their inheritance to maintain their standards of living.

He felt that Canada needed revival of patriotism and

Classes as Usual for Good Citizen

Victoria's Good Citizen of 1966, long-time swimming teacher Margie Naysmith is the centre of attention of her family and H. Rodney Dunn, right, who presented her with her citizenship medal Sunday.

Proud Scotty Naysmith congratulates Marge

It was cool enough Monday for young swim instructor at right to wear her duffle coat, but youngsters at their first day of 1966 Colonist free swim classes couldn't wait to try water of Elk Lake. Splashing and blowing bubbles, they spent their first lesson getting acquainted with water.

Marjorie Naysmith Honored

Swimming Instructor Awarded Gold Medal

By EILEEN LEAROLD

Everyone in Victoria knows her. Even the fish at Elk Lake know her.

She is Marjorie Naysmith, and she has just been named Victoria's Good Citizen of 1966.

We always knew she was a good citizen, but it is nice to know it's official. A native daughter herself, Margie was given a gold medal and a certificate by the Native Sons of B.C. in a special ceremony Sunday at the Oak Bay Marina.

SWIMMING TEACHER

This is a heartwarming award to the woman who has taught so many citizens of Victoria to swim.

By her own count she has given swimming instruction to 60,000 in this city. And that's half the population.

Although she has taught swimming for 30 years, Margie Naysmith is probably best known for the gigantic Daily Colonist swim classes held annually at Elk Lake for the past 14 years.

BIG CLASSES
More than 25,000 children have been introduced to water safety and the pleasure of Canada's biggest summertime sport in the Colonist classes one record year, Margie taught 1,500 youngsters at Elk Lake.

Mrs. Naysmith, in private life Mrs. John (Scotty) Naysmith of 2847 Shelbourne, received the award from H. Rodney Dunn, chief factor of the Victoria Post, Native Sons of B.C.

CHOSEN FROM 37
Most of Mrs. Naysmith's family attended the ceremony. She was chosen from among 37 men and women nominated for "recognition of service to the community who would not normally expect nor receive such acknowledgment from the community."

On receiving her medal Margie started to speak, then burst into tears.

"I was really moved," said the big-hearted woman who began her career as a coach at the "Y". At that time she took the Grade 5s along with Archie McKinnon, and she stayed with the "Y" for 20 years.

VOLUNTEER WORK

Among other jobs she did, extensive volunteer work with the handicapped at Naden pool and with members of the CNIB. The citation also refers to her valuable work as a charter member of the auxiliary to the Gorge Road Hospital.

But swimming has been and is, her main work and also her chief joy.

For the past 11 years she has taught classes at the Crystal Garden daily, and will continue this season when the city takes over the bulk of organized swim classes. One of the differences is that this year Mrs. Naysmith will also handle some private swim instruction as well.

FAMILY PRESENT

Attending the presentation was Mr. Naysmith; their son David and a daughter Mrs. Marilyn Cann, assistant coach at Margie's classes. One daughter, Mrs. Louise Beglow of Portland, was unable to attend.

Members of the Native Sons attending were R. G. Creech, Mrs. W. J. V. Church and Douglas McHugh.

Sunday was a big day for Marjorie Naysmith — but more big days are coming up.

MORE HONORS
Saanich municipality is holding an Honor Marjorie Naysmith Day on Aug. 14 in conjunction with its Diamond Jubilee Beaver-Elk Lake swimming race.

Graham Ends U.K. Crusade

LONDON (Reuters) — American evangelist Billy Graham concluded a month-long crusade in "Swinging London" over the weekend, assuring 100,000 Britons at a giant rally that they are not irrevocably on the path to decadence.

THERE IS HOPE

But after giving a mini-ecoli Britain and its fashion-crazy teenagers a closer look, Graham said there is hope of the future.

"It is not true England is swinging along the path of decadence, as the headlines say," he shouted from a carnation-tipped rostrum in Wembley Stadium.

DIFFERENT TUNE

"Let this meeting tell the world that London may be a swinging city, but tens of thousands here tonight are swinging to a different tune. We are marching to a different drumbeat — the drumbeat of heaven."

It was Britain's biggest religious gathering. Squads of extra police were moving in to control the crowds.

THE FASTEST GALLON IN THE WORLD

Fantastic Renault Victory at the 24 hours of Le Mans

Three Renault Alpines outperformed 12 other contenders, including entries from Ford, Porsche and Ferrari.

The three Renault Alpines finished the gruelling 24-hour endurance race in 1st, 2nd and 3rd place of the index of energy.

The classification of the index of energy is the highest average speed for the lowest gas consumption per mile.

A total of 55 cars started the race on June 18.

The three 1300-cc. Renaults, equipped with Dunlop tires, ran for 24 consecutive hours at an average speed of 106.84 miles per hour for a consumption of 19.04 miles per gallon.

Classification of the Renault Alpines:

Index of energy:
1st, 2nd and 3rd.
General classification:
9th, 11th and 12th.

The Renault victory is that of an intelligent and rational engineering concept allied to that of a robust engine for a low consumption of gas. It is also a gain by all Renault owners because the race is just one of a long series of trials where the lessons learned serve to direct the engineering of the cars for marketing.

Renault cars which combine power and economy, safety and comfort, draw a great deal of information from the world-wide Company's racing program.

The heavy rains which ruined so many holiday weekends left Uplands golf course lush and green for the 135 women who teed off Monday in the first 18 holes of a 36-hole qualifying round in the Pacific Northwest Golf Association women's championship.

And after the first 18 holes, Maelyn Palmer of Kamloops, the current B.C. women's champion, led the field with a par 75.

One stroke behind Miss Palmer was Mrs. Eileen Hlanfield of Kirkland, Wash. Judy Hoerner was the only other golfer to beat 80. She had a 78.

Ruth McViney of Nanaimo, who recently won the Greater Victoria championship, posted the best Island round with an 82. Mrs. Byron Price led the Victorians with 83.

Second round will be played today with the top 16 scores over the 36 holes going into championship flight, match-play competition. Non-qualifiers form flights of 16 players each.

Defending champion Mrs. John Hlanfield of Tacoma, who automatically qualifies for the championship flight, had "about a 78" in Monday's qualifying play.

Miss Palmer's 75 included four birdies and four bogeys. She took five on the par-four, second and third holes, but came back with a pair of birdies on the par-three fourth and par-five fifth hole.

She bagged the seventh hole with a six for a front nine total of 39.

On the back nine, she had a birdie two on the 11th hole and a birdie three on the 28th and 12th for a 36-hole total.

Mrs. Hlanfield was two strokes over par for the front nine and came in with a one-under-par 36.

Mrs. McViney had to overcome a shaky 45 on the front nine, but she turned the back nine with an even-par 37.

Radio Colonist, Victoria 10 Tuesday, July 3, 1966

Wayne Vollmer, who won the Canadian junior championship three years ago, returned to the Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club yesterday to shoot a one-under-par 69 in the first of the two qualifying rounds in the annual Pacific Northwest Golf Association tournament.

The husky, 21-year-old University of Arizona student played almost perfect golf as he shot birdies on the second and fifth holes and lost to par only on the 10th hole.

But he had to share the lead with Dick Williams, a two-handicapper from Bellevue, Wash. Williams had bogeys on the third, sixth, 10th and 12th holes but more than made up for them with birdies on the second, seventh, 11th, 14th and 17th in carding his 75-74.

In near perfect condition, the Colwood layout proved a real test for the star-studded field of close to 200. It played long because of weekend rains but there was compensation in the brie on the greens.

Although many scored better on the back nine it was the tougher for the majority. Many encountered considerable trouble on the 10th and 12th holes, and this was particularly true for Vancouver's Gordon Murray.

Murray, starting his round on the 10th, drove four times out of bounds and got away with a 13 to run his chances. He finally got the back nine over in 48 strokes and came in with an 89 after 41 on the front nine.

When the scores were all in, the tally showed 74 with rounds of 77 or less, 10 at 78 and another 10 at 79. With 22 to qualify for the match play beginning tomorrow, the popular guess was that 154 would be a stiff breeze to qualify. However, a need breeze today or more rain could revise that estimate upwards.

Mike Reesor and Edwin Fanning of Seattle and Kent Meyers of Oswego Lake, Ore., matched Colwood's par of 70 and Doug Olson of Melford, Ore., Wimpy Sargent of Seattle and Bob Boldt of Oswego Lake just missed, with one-over 71s.

Sargent had the best nine, going out in 32 with six pars and birdies on the fifth, sixth and seventh holes. But he lost his touch there, taking bogeys on the 10th and 12th, a double-bogey seven on the 14th and another bogey on the 16th. He birdied for a four-over 38 coming in.

For a four-over 38 coming in, Holland of Seattle, exempt from qualifying, turned in his card only for the front nine. It showed a 28.

Veteran Vic Painter led the Victoria contingent with a 73. Laurie Kerr with a 74. Bob Morgan with a 76 and John Hagan with a 77 are other Victorians with a chance of qualifying.

Frank Sargent, 78, and Dave Jones, 79, both have reasonable hopes.

Par and scores:

Par 70: Vollmer 69, Williams 75, Fanning 70, Reesor 70, Meyers 70, Olson 70, Sargent 71, Boldt 71, Painter 73, Kerr 74, Morgan 76, Hagan 77, Sargent 78, Jones 79.

Vollmer Comes 'Home' To Share PNGA Lead

Wayne Vollmer, who won the Canadian junior championship three years ago, returned to the Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club yesterday to shoot a one-under-par 69 in the first of the two qualifying rounds in the annual Pacific Northwest Golf Association tournament.

The husky, 21-year-old University of Arizona student played almost perfect golf as he shot birdies on the second and fifth holes and lost to par only on the 10th hole.

But he had to share the lead with Dick Williams, a two-handicapper from Bellevue, Wash. Williams had bogeys on the third, sixth, 10th and 12th holes but more than made up for them with birdies on the second, seventh, 11th, 14th and 17th in carding his 75-74.

In near perfect condition, the Colwood layout proved a real test for the star-studded field of close to 200. It played long because of weekend rains but there was compensation in the brie on the greens.

Although many scored better on the back nine it was the tougher for the majority. Many encountered considerable trouble on the 10th and 12th holes, and this was particularly true for Vancouver's Gordon Murray.

Murray, starting his round on the 10th, drove four times out of bounds and got away with a 13 to run his chances. He finally got the back nine over in 48 strokes and came in with an 89 after 41 on the front nine.

When the scores were all in, the tally showed 74 with rounds of 77 or less, 10 at 78 and another 10 at 79. With 22 to qualify for the match play beginning tomorrow, the popular guess was that 154 would be a stiff breeze to qualify. However, a need breeze today or more rain could revise that estimate upwards.

Mike Reesor and Edwin Fanning of Seattle and Kent Meyers of Oswego Lake, Ore., matched Colwood's par of 70 and Doug Olson of Melford, Ore., Wimpy Sargent of Seattle and Bob Boldt of Oswego Lake just missed, with one-over 71s.

Sargent had the best nine, going out in 32 with six pars and birdies on the fifth, sixth and seventh holes. But he lost his touch there, taking bogeys on the 10th and 12th, a double-bogey seven on the 14th and another bogey on the 16th. He birdied for a four-over 38 coming in.

For a four-over 38 coming in, Holland of Seattle, exempt from qualifying, turned in his card only for the front nine. It showed a 28.

Veteran Vic Painter led the Victoria contingent with a 73. Laurie Kerr with a 74. Bob Morgan with a 76 and John Hagan with a 77 are other Victorians with a chance of qualifying.

Frank Sargent, 78, and Dave Jones, 79, both have reasonable hopes.

boat owners to resume the race, and the crowd was set for a duel. The two were expected to fight it out for the point lead before going into the fourth and championship heat.

Slovak, a 37-year-old airline pilot, picked up $11,800 top prize money in the World Series of motor boating.

In contrast to Sunday's opening day, which also saw Bill Muncey of Seattle and Bill Stettin of Ovensburg, Ky., injured, Monday's events went without incident.

FIRST WIN
Slovak, after posting wins in his first two heats Sunday, was an odds-on choice to win the Gold Cup in his fourth try. His previous best was a third-place finish.

He was battling neck-in-neck with Thompson Sunday when

Many of the 300,000 spectators who lined Detroit River along the three-mile course screamed as Thompson's boat disintegrated seconds after he crossed the starting line at more than 100 miles an hour.

A helicopter plucked him from the water. Physicians applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation but it was in vain.

'SMACKED DOWN'
Referee Bill Newton said Thompson's 7,800-pound boat "seemed to become airborne momentarily and then smashed down hard on the water."

Officials first cancelled the meet, but the decision was changed two hours later after a special meeting.

Thompson, one of speedboat racing's most popular figures, was cheated out of an unachieved ambition to win the Gold Cup.

In a career which extended back to 1933, he had won every other major hydroplane racing crown. It was his 12th try for the title.

TWO EACH
Thompson and Slovak, in Tahoe Miss, each won his first two heats with ease.

They did not meet each other until the third preliminary heat.

Another win

Moe Norman was in form for the second time in a week as he went to an extra hole Saturday to win the Alberta Open in Calgary. He edged amateur John Kilburn of Edmonton on the first extra hole of a playoff. Norman, a Toronto professional, won the B.C. Open the week previous. Bob Panasiuk of Windsor finished third in Calgary to qualify, with Norman, for the $200,000 World Open tournament later this year.

Emergency Call Finishes Import

COURTENAY — B.C. Lions were jacking one import when they arrived Sunday at this peaceful resort town on the east coast of Vancouver Island.

The Lions, who intend to cross the bitter memory of the painful 1965 Western Football Conference season, were without Charles Barnes.

The tight end from Northeast Louisiana State College, tagged by head coach Dave Skrien "very promising," had to leave for home Saturday. A wire from his wife informed him that his mother-in-law was very ill.

Barnes, who will probably be away for weeks and therefore will miss the Courtenay camp entirely, has been written off by Skrien.

The squad's import roster now has been reduced to 29.

Edmonton Ace Kept On Bench

EDMONTON — Rookies impressed as the Eskimos held their annual intra-squad game here Sunday.

Coach Neil Armstrong, who made the 5,000 fans unhappy by keeping ace ground-gainer Jim Thomas on the bench because of a slight muscle pull, took it easy on his veterans.

With Greens defeating the Golds, 18-0, rookies accounted for the two touchdowns. C. T. Traylor, a halfback from Drake University, romped 39 yards on a reverse, and Ken Sigaty, an end from Edmonton Junior Wildcats, caught a 15-yard pass from quarterback Larry Zeno.

Zeno, a pickup from Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League, converted Sigaty's touchdown. Tommy Joe Coffey added a 45-yard field goal and a single and Randy Kerbow boomed a 75-yard punt for another single point.

Net Juniors Rained Out

Along with softball and baseball games, the Pacific regional junior tennis champion was rained out Sunday.

The tournament had fallen well behind schedule as a result of Saturday's rain, and when Sunday's weather was no better, officials cancelled the competition.

About 70 players from out of the city had come to Victoria for the tournament.

Gorge Golfer Grabs Glory

DUNCAN — Hugh McWhirter of Gorge Vale won the Cowichan Golf Club handicap championship here Sunday with a net 101 for 27 holes.

Brothers Greg and Doug Ledding of Cowichan were second and third respectively. Clive Walton of Mount Brenton took the low gross award, and Jack Coe won the Elmer Tenney Trophy for the lowest gross by a Cowichan golfer.

Grand Prix To Brabham

RHEIMS, France (AP)—Australian Jack Brabham had a perfect two days of motor racing this weekend. The former world champion Sunday won the European Grand Prix for formula one cars. Saturday he won the French Grand Prix for formula two cars.

The victory Sunday put him in the lead for the world championship with 12 points, two more than Italian Lorenzo Bandini whose Ferrari led almost two-thirds of the race but dropped out with a broken throttle cable.

Tiny Girl Giant In Water

VANCOUVER (CP) — Tiny Elaine Tanner, 15, of Vancouver, swimming in the pouring rain—and without competition, broke the world record for the 220-yard individual medley Sunday.

The Vancouver girl, swimming in a time trial at the conclusion of the two-day B.C. open and age group swimming championships, covered the distance in 2:33.3.

She shaved 3-10 of a second off the world record of Donna de Varona of Santa Clara, Calif., and was 1-10 faster than the record set several weeks ago by Claudia Kolb, also of Santa Clara. Miss Kolb's time qualified for a world record, but was not as yet listed in the record book.

Decathlon Record Broken By Mononucleosis Victim

SALINA, Kan. (AP) — Bill Toomey, in hospital for five weeks early this year, and Russ Hodge, his Olympic roommate, both shattered the world decathlon record Sunday.

Toomey, 27, scored 8,234 points to win the 48th U.S. Amateur Athletic Union decathlon title and Hodge was second with 8,130. Both broke the world mark of 8,089 points set by C. K. Yang of Formosa in 1963.

Toomey, Hodge and Dave Thoreson, third-place finisher with 7,475 points, were roommates the last three weeks in the two-day, 10-event test.

Toomey achieved a lifetime best in five events just six months after becoming ill early this year with mononucleosis and hepatitis in Germany where he was training.

His father, Dick Toomey, said Bill injured his right wrist in an accident about five years ago, lost almost all feeling and the hand withered.

Garden Notes

Sane Surgery Pays

By M. V. CHESNUT

As each of the perennial flowers in our summer borders finishes its normal period of bloom, a little trimming here and there is in order. This does not mean cutting the whole plant right down to ground level, as so many novice gardeners seem to think; in fact, each plant requires individual treatment. After a spot of intelligent surgery, some subjects will stage quite a comeback and will put on a second display of bloom. Pyrethrums respond enthusiastically to the rejuvenation treatment. When the first wave of bloom is over, cut down the stems to just above the rosette of leaves, stir the soil around each plant and work in a couple of handfuls of old rotted manure. Give a little high-test soluble fertilizer in water once a week, and the plants will soon sparkle with renewed beauty.

As delphiniums and lupins fade, cut out the old spikes at their base and remove any tattered old leaves which show signs of turning yellow. Loosen the soil around each plant and give a liquid feed weekly. Delphiniums will respond in one of two ways: either the old stem will throw out secondary spikes of flowers, or it will die back, to be replaced with fresh young shoots from the roots. These are capable of putting on a surprisingly good show of bloom late in the season.

To get a second floral display from oriental poppies, you must not only cut away the faded flower stems at their point of origin, but also remove many of the old outer leaves. You can see by their grayish, limp appearance that they are exhausted and incapable of doing anything to help along the plant, so cut them away. Following this, a vigorous rosette of young leaves should form, out of which will arise another crop of flowers.

Immediately after trimming, loosen the soil around each plant and stir in a little hydrated lime, about half a cupful to each average-sized specimen. Aubrietia and arabis are both capable of blooming a second time if given the correct treatment. With aubrietia, shear each plant with a pair of scissors, not quite to soil level but at least halfway back. Then make up a mixture of peat moss and sand with a little all-purpose bag fertilizer mixed in, and dump a good double handful into the heart of each plant.

Arabis isn't built to take a crew cut in this fashion but, if you look closely among the rosettes of leaves, you'll find a lot of old, flowered-out shoots. Cut these off individually, and the younger shoots will come forward to reward you with a fresh carpet of bloom. Arabis also enjoys a dressing of the peat-and-fertilizer mixture.

If you brought old pansies and violas safely through the winter, they probably started into bloom in April and have been going at it hammer and tongs ever since. They can't keep up this pace forever, though, for there are limits even to the indefatigable viola's capacity for blooming.

Here again, as with the arabis, you will find a number of old, hard, yellow-green shoots which are nearing the end of their flowering life. You will also see suckers — new, vigorous young shoots — pushing out sideways from the centers of the plants. Get the exhausted stuff out of the way and the new young hopefuls will come forward to give more bloom.

Pansies and violas can be fed weekly with an "instant" type complete fertilizer in water, but a better plan is to alternate weekly between this complete fertilizer and straight sulphate of potash, one tablespoonful per gallon and one cupful per plant. Loosen the soil around each plant and tuck a little ripe compost leafmould under the spread of the foliage.

ART BUCHWALD on Peace Corps Backlash

Thais Help Poor Americans

Thailand has just announced that she will send Peace Corps volunteers to the United States as a gesture for American Peace Corps volunteers dispatched to Thailand.

The announcement said that several projects, including the teaching of the Thai language to Americans, would be worked out.

No one in his wildest dreams ever thought that there would be this kind of backlash to the Peace Corps. While the U.S. has been very eager to send Peace Corps volunteers abroad, it is not too certain it's such a great idea to have other countries send Peace Corps volunteers to the United States.

I can just see the first Thai Peace Corps volunteers after spending two years in the United States, returning to Thailand and being interviewed by a newscaster on Bangkok television.

"We have in our studio Mr. Yok Bin Lin, who has just returned after serving two years in the United States as a Peace Corps volunteer. Mr. Lin, how was it over there?"

"I had a wonderful time and I think I taught them a lot. The village where I worked in New Jersey was called Hoboken. By our standards it was very primitive, but the people were simple and friendly and willing to learn."

"Was it dangerous, Mr. Lin?"

"Well, you couldn't go out at night, but in the daytime it was perfectly safe to wander in most areas."

"Where did you live?"

"As you know, Thai Peace Corps volunteers are trained to live with the natives, so I moved into an urban housing development. It was hard at first, because the plumbing kept me awake at night, but after a while I got used to it."

"Did you eat the native food?"

"I tried to, but it wasn't easy. The Hoboken people refuse to raise any food themselves and they must buy it at supermarkets frozen and wrapped in cellophane."

"You must be joking?"

"No, I'm not. One of my first projects was to try to teach the natives to grow their own vegetables so they wouldn't have to spend money, but they were too set in their ways."

"What did you find was the Americans' biggest problem?"

"They're full of fears. It's very hard to work with the people because, in the world they live in, they've lived with fear for so long."

"What do you think the origin of the fear is?"

"It starts with their young, who are told at a very early age that they have bad breath, that they perspire too much, that they will probably get cavities, that they are susceptible to headaches, neuralgia, and stomach acids. By the time the young grow up, they're frightened of everything."

"What about the family structure?"

"There is not too much to speak of. The children go off when they're quite young and have a great hostility towards their elders. The husbands and wives don't get along too well either, so there is quite a bit of friction right inside the family."

"Looking back over the two years, Mr. Lin, what do you consider was the greatest contribution you made?"

"I got everyone in Hoboken to practice birth control."

ERMA BOMBECK Gets the Treatment

Waking Up Traumatic

How I am awakened in the morning usually determines how I feel the rest of the day.

When allowed to wake up in the natural way, I find myself quite civil and reasonably able to cope with the routine. When the children do the job for me, I awake surly, uncommunicative and tire easily. (I once fell asleep while I was having my tooth filled.)

It all begins at some small hour in the morning. The children line up at my bedside and stare at me as at a white whale that has been washed onto the beach.

"I think she hears us. Her eyelids fluttered."

"Wait till she turns over, then everybody cough."

"Why don't we just punch her and ask her what we want to know?"

"Get him out of here."

"She's pulling the covers over her ears. Start coughing."

I don't know how long it will be before one of them discovers that by taking my pulse they will be able to figure out by its rapid beat if I am taking or not. But it will come.

When they were smaller, they were even less subtle. They would stick their wet fingers in the openings of my face and whisper, "You awake yet?"

Or good old daddy would simply heave a flannel-wrapped bundle at me and say, "Here's mommy's little boy." (Any mother with half a skull knows that when daddy's little boy becomes mommy's little boy, daddy's little boy is so wet he's treading water.)

The imagination of children never fails to stagger me. Once, they put a hamster on my chest and when I bolted upright (my throat muscles paralyzed with fright) they asked, "Do you have any alcohol for the chemistry set?"

Another time they kicked the wall until I became conscious then asked, "Does daddy want puts in his shirt?"

Probably the most unnerving eye-opener was a couple of weeks ago my eyes popped open without the slightest provocation. "Those rotten kids have done it again," I grumbled. "How can I sleep with that

Sellers' Name Spells Success

By SHEILA GRAHAM

LONDON (NANA) — This reporter has broken the secret code on the Cusino Royale ending. Erna Sellers, who plays a trouble agent, will die. Actually it's not really a secret because this is what happens in the book. They were going to change it, however, for the film with everything else that was changed. I chatted with one of the several directors, and asked, "How much bigger did Peter Sellers make his role?" "About twice as big," said the director, adding, "Peter is like a yeast cake. When he starts cooking, the cake will swell." Charlie Feldman, the producer, believes that when Peter is in a picture, it automatically is successful. The Pink Panther was nothing until Sellers replaced Peter (Linnov). He made A Shot in the Dark successful. What's New Pussycat? might have been a failure without Peter. So he let him do whatever he wanted to do with Casino Royale. It will be some time before we know the wisdom of this blind faith in Sellers.

Everyone in London, it seems, is writing about the late Somerset Maugham—Reverly Nichols, Lord Maugham, Godfrey Winn, to name three. Winn was a protégé of Maugham and became a writer instead of an actor, on the author's advice.

J. Lee Thompson was in a talkative mood at the White Elephant, a restaurant with a bar where the theatre and film people come to see each other. The director had just flown in from Hollywood to spend several weeks here completing the back-screen work for his film, "13." And if you want to know how a star can make a director suffer, read on.

"Kim Novak (she left the film, because of an injured back, a few days before it would have been completed) accused me of favoring Sharon Tate (13 years younger than Kim and making her film debut in the picture). She also accused the cameraman of taking money under the table to make Sharon look prettier and herself uglier. Of course the charge was ridiculous and I made her apologize. When I had close-ups to do with Sharon, Kim collapsed. And Kim's language! 'It wasn't only Mary Ramonoff's ears that got burned. The electricians, who swear a great deal themselves, became upset.'

"They said it wasn't nice for a star to use that kind of talk." Well, now you know what a director sometimes has to go through. And the sad part of this and story is that, according to Thompson, Kim before she was replaced and rubbed out by Deborah Kerr, had given the very best performance of her career.

The French critics considered Alfie "shocking and obscene." And for the strangest reason, according to star Michael Caine. "They objected," he told me, "to all that moralizing."

Preventive Detention Turned Down

An application to have Steve Remington sentenced to preventive detention — which could mean life imprisonment — was refused by Magistrate William Ostler in central magistrate's court Monday.

But the magistrate did find that the 42-year-old Remington was a habitual criminal and was leading a persistently criminal life.

The Crown made its application to have Remington sentenced to three years in jail for breaking into Clark and Cordick, 2503 Douglas, last September.

'END OF LINE'
The Crown produced evidence that Remington had been convicted 17 times since turning 18, and had been sentenced to about 23 years in jail.

After dismissing the Crown's application, Magistrate Ostler told Remington: "Unless you are a great deal less intelligent than the evidence indicates, or unless you simply do not care, it must be obvious that you have come to the end of the line."

"If you do not conform to the law, you will spend the rest of your life in detention."

"If I have been wrong in the conclusion I have come to in this case, you can be sure that if your subsequent conduct bears that out, some other judge or magistrate will adjust the matter."

Magistrate Ostler had a warning for middle-aged women when he found Louise Charbonneau, 423 Superior, $200 for shoplifting.

He said: "I am getting very tired of these middle-aged ladies who wander into a shop as though they are looking for a sachet of lavender and come out loaded down with goods. It has got to stop."

Mrs. Charbonneau pleaded guilty last week to stealing two cushion covers, three dresser scarves, three pairs of nylon, a jacket, a pair of shoes, a slip, two brassieres and a bag, valued at $42.40.

An application to have the bail of two men charged with armed robbery reduced was declined by Magistrate Ostler. Defence counsel Dermot Owen-Flood said bail has been set at $17,500 each for William Braumberger and Henry Gable. Both men had been in prison since February, Mr. Owen-Flood said, and had been unable to raise bail.

The preliminary hearing of the robbery charge, which involves the Feb. 18 holdup of the Bank of Montreal, begins July 19.

Albert Canfield, described by his counsel Jack Gatehouse as "easily led," was sentenced to six months definite and nine indefinite in the Young Offenders' Unit for two break-ins.

Canfield, 1140 Palmer, pleaded guilty to breaking into Supersonic Car Wash, 628 Gorge, and Trans-Canada Service Station, 480 West Burnside, June 11.

James Dibblee of Vancouver was found by police suspended over the wheel of his car early Sunday morning.

His car was five feet from the curb of Superior Street, the headlights were on, the engine running. Dibblee pleaded guilty to having care and control of a vehicle while impaired and was fined $350. His licence was suspended for six months except for business purposes.

Jack Head hit a parked car on Government Sunday morning, causing about $350 damage to the two cars, but minutes later couldn't remember the accident. Head, 552 Snelling, pleaded guilty to impaired driving and was fined $350. His licence was suspended.

Chen Sing, 950 Queens, was fined $300 and had his licence suspended when he pleaded guilty to impaired driving. He was stopped by police after he was seen driving slowly on Admirals early Monday morning.

Cornelius Hughes, 716 Doford, didn't believe in regulations, said Magistrate Ostler. He fined Hughes a total of $325.

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Two Doukhobor women who have refused to eat solid foods since April 3 to protest five-year prison sentences for arson are still being fed through nasal tubes and show no sign of ending their hunger strike. Kingston penitentiary officials said today, Both Mary Malakoff and Mary Astaforoff are in weak condition in hospital.

Voters' List Increased In Registration Drive

Two thousand persons had their names added to the provincial voters lists during the first week of a registration campaign in Greater Victoria.

Registrar of Voters John Smallwood said Monday that registration booths will remain open here through the rest of this week.

Registration was heavier in urban areas than in the country where people are more settled, he said, and about one-quarter of those who signed were people whose addresses had changed since the last provincial election, in September, 1963.

"We're getting along nicely with it," said Mr. Smallwood. "There was a reasonable response."

"We would like everyone who is not on the voters' list — who hasn't received a card in the mail — to become registered. "We have approximately 2,000 new ones on our list as a result of this... Whether it will dwindle or keep up I don't really know."

Mr. Smallwood said much of the response to the government's B.C.-wide registration campaign is coming from city residents who live in high-rise apartments.

"Just how long it will continue depends, I presume, on the public's response to the whole thing. We will have another ad in before the end of the week."

People will have no room for complaint now if their names do not appear on the voters' lists, the registrar added.

"We pointed out to them that it's their responsibility, we're trying to help them in every respect to get on the voters' lists and we have opened the centres for their convenience. If they don't want to take advantage of it, I guess that's it."

It's Not All Fun, Fun

Hope Leads World in Handling Fame

By CHARLES CHAMPLIN
The Los Angeles Times

HOLLYWOOD — It was 15 years ago on a brutally raw day in Belaire, Ohio. As the payoff to a long-running promotion stunt, Bob Hope was in town to hold the premiere of his latest film in the living room of a local couple.

He'd flown all night from Hollywood with the cast of his radio show. There was a local parade in his honor. It was delayed and Hope sat for three better part of an hour stop a sleigh, wrapped in blankets which were useless against the bitter wind.

BLUE COMEDIAN

"Boy, let's get this thing going," Hope yelled, "or you're gonna have a blue comedian up here."

That evening, still groggy from lack of sleep, he had snatched the radio show between parade and premiere), Hope was alternately shaking with chills and running a fever of 102 degrees.

He stepped out of his host's second floor guest room, shook his head at a couple of journalists and said, "It's all fun, fun, fun." Then he drew himself straight, flashed the familiar grin and walked downstairs to the applauding crowd in the living room.

TRACK RECORD

There was fame clearly shown, as slogging hard work. Hope, of course, is still at it; and although he insists he doesn't slog quite so hard as he used to, the track record indicates he still gets around. He turned 63 a few days ago and he's got money he hasn't even had time to fold yet. But he just celebrated 25 years of entertaining U.S. servicemen right back where he started, by the entertaining at Mather air force base, Calif.

Beatles Snooze

Filipinos Angered By Snubbing Of First Family

MANILA (AP) — Filipinos chorused an indignant nono to the yea-yeah boys from Liverpool Monday after the Beatles missed a date with the glamorous first lady of the Philippines.

"Beatles snub first family" and "motheads slept while Imelda waited" said the headlines in Manila newspapers. The quartet did not make an appearance before Imelda Marcos, wife of President Ferdinand Marcos, their three youngsters and 300 other children of high government officials.

After waiting more than an hour in a chandelied hall of the presidential palace, Mrs. Marcos said: "As much as I would like to meet them I could not wait this long. My children have all the time in the world but I don't."

The Beatles' manager, Brian Epstein, denied charges he ever got an invitation for a command appearance.

Though their stock with kids remains high, other Filipinos have not taken too kindly to the Beatles since their arrival Sunday. They angered 10,000 waiting fans by slipping out of a side gate at the airport without so much as a wave. Filipino reporters said they were snubbed at a press conference. And other guests at their hotel were indignant when all elevators were shut down as a security measure.

Movie Capital Moved

More Films Now Made-In-Europe

By BOB THOMAS

LONDON (AP) — More and more the Hollywood movie has made-in-Europe tag; on it.

On film lots in Britain and Rome the cameras grind away, and on locations in Spain and France the big-name actors go through their paces. Behind it all is financing by U.S. film companies, which find it easier and cheaper to make movies abroad.

Here are some highlights in a Hollywood visitor's view while visiting movie sets in Europe: In London's Shepperton Studio, Orson Welles sits behind a roulette table in "Casino Royale," the new James Bond film.

At MGM's Elstree Studios near London, Robert Aldrich is directing a cast including Lee Remick, Ernest Borgnine and Robert Ryan, in "The Dirty Dozen."

At a cafe near Paris, Peter O'Toole and Tom Courtenay are playing a scene for "Night of the Generals," a film of the Nazi occupation.

Through the waterfront streets of Monte Carlo speed brightly-colored racing cars, driven by James Garner, Yves Montand and other actors in MGM's "Grand Prix."

In the Italian seaside town of Santa Margherita, David McCallum plays a tour director who becomes involved with spies in "Three Days of the Condor."

At the De Laurentiis Studios near Rome, Elizabeth

says, "They say Durante and I are the two easiest people on earth to recognize. Yeah. A while ago my car pulled up at a stoplight in Colorado Springs. The driver of a convertible alongside us spotted me and nudged his passenger. This kid said 'Hey, Jack Benny.' But I guess I do get around; I keep saying 'I've got an all-weather head.'"

GOOD GROUP
Hope has what must be one of the most enormously satisfying lives in the industry. His son, a recent Harvard law school graduate, is an executive at 20th Century-Fox, handling contract negotiations. "He says, 'I think I may be able to get you a job, Dad,'" Hope says.

A daughter is in India making a documentary on motherhood. "She's 20,000 dollars a week budget already; I'll be ruined," says Hope. Another daughter is an undergarments at Georgetown. "She can write home for money in five languages."

UNIQUE SUCCESS
But if he is Hollywood's most popular personality and one who has never made a fetish of privacy, Hope still remains a private man for whom the border between public performance and private life is real but unobscured. He has achieved with unique success the task more difficult here than any place else on earth, of coping with the pressures of fame.

His agents have been with him since that Hope has been a man for 17 and the kooky squad of secretaries who staff the offices behind his home for long stretches as well. Money can be no real object. Even kindnesses have paid unexpected dividends. Years ago, Hope's brother set out to make it as a real estate salesman. He mentioned a small piece of land and Hope casually said, "Right, wrap it up." A few months ago, Jules Stein of MCA asked Hope what he wanted for the same morsel of land. With an affable wave of the hand, Hope said, "Oh, a million bucks." Stein read it to provide additional parking for Universal Studios.

Watching Hope's present pace, it is possible to suspect that the habit of hard work, which is all too easy to pick up during a hectic day, later proves all too difficult to break.

LITTLE SERVICES
"Hope decides it, and insists he has ample time every once in a while, to drop down to Palm Springs for a little serious, scientific golf."

"I enjoy everything I do," he says. "The TV shows, the films, the traveling around the world, the Viet Nam tours are something else. The conditions are unbelievable. The trumpet player had to quit; his lips got so sunburned in that heat he couldn't play. How the gals stand up under it I don't know."

"But the emotional thrills you get out of doing those shows... nothing else you do gets to you that way."

TV Protests Really Quite Useless

By PAUL COATER
The Los Angeles Times

The time has come, citizens, for us to cease this trivial bickering about the quality of television entertainment.

For too long, we have unsuccessfully attempted to storm the gates of Madison Avenue and present our petitions of protest to the creative geniuses who rule the nation's culture with measured rods and iron hands.

Our rebellion has been a minor annoyance to the nobility in the Brooks Brothers suits. Lo, escape our cries of outrage, they have merely taken refuge deeper in their lunchbox double martinis, and muttered: "Let 'em eat cake."

No bitter complaint, no winning plea, we have made have ever caused them to alter the junk programming so carefully designed to further enfeeble our minds.

In the rigid, unbreakable social structure of the magic black tube, we are the restless peasants and they are the benevolent despots who know what's best for us.

As it happens, they are probably right about us anyway.

In evidence of that, allow me to cite you the case of Gladys Martinez vs. Channel 9. Miss Martinez, an admitted addict of late, late TV, seemed completely undone when we chatted on the phone the other day.

"I'm a wreck," she apologized. "Hardly got any sleep. I guess this crazy thing kept bothering me."

"What crazy thing?" "Well," she explained, "I always stay up late and watch the television. You know? An old movie. Sometimes they're not so bad."

"This time, it was about 2:30 in the morning. I was watching the set, and after awhile, I don't know how long, I suddenly realized what I was looking at."

"Which was?" I asked.

"Which was," she replied, "a lady sitting in a chair and says, 'They say Durante and I are the two easiest people on earth to recognize. Yeah. A while ago my car pulled up at a stoplight in Colorado Springs. The driver of a convertible alongside us spotted me and nudged his passenger. This kid said 'Hey, Jack Benny.' But I guess I do get around; I keep saying 'I've got an all-weather head.'"

Stadium Fate Due Today

A university-intermunicipal committee is expected to decide today on awarding a contract for Greater Victoria's Centennial stadium at the University of Victoria.

Basic low bid on the stadium when tenders were opened Thursday was $549,700, submitted by R. A. Hall Ltd. of Victoria. The tender did not include lighting of the track, which would raise the price to $611,184.

The intermunicipal committee has only $519,967 promised in per capita sharing and government grants.

Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis said Saturday that there has been no suggestion the project will be abandoned. Deletions from the contract could put the price within reach, he said.

Logan Frost Aid Sought

By JACK FRY
Legislative Reporter

Saanich Fruit Growers Association is asking the provincial government for financial assistance to replace loganberry plants which were damaged by frost on the Saanich Peninsula.

Gilbert Rumley, manager of the association, said Monday frost damage was heaviest in Central Saanich, where some loganberry growers lost 50 per cent of their plants and where some damage was also caused to strawberry plants.

He said he mailed a letter last weekend to Agriculture Minister Frank Richter, requesting provincial aid for growers who sustained loganberry losses.

Mr. Richter said he will study the situation when the letter arrives from the growers. But he said farm losses have to be considered an occupational hazard until such time as a crop insurance program is implemented.

The provincial government helped strawberry and fruit growers recover from a severe frost in the winter of 1964-65 but was unable to assist growers of raspberries, sugar beet seed and Brussels sprouts which were also damaged, he said.

Mr. Rumley said, "This is the only place in Canada where logans are grown commercially and we've suffered frost damage. We feel the government should aid us to keep us trying to grow logans."

Extensive rain here last week has helped the loganberries recover from frost damage although it may have caused a drop in the overall volume of this year's strawberry crop, he continued.

Saanich Peninsula's strawberry volume is higher than last year and there are still "100 tons or so on the plants" but "... you can't pick mouldy berries," Mr. Rumley said.

Loganberries started coming in last Friday and this year's crop may run as high as 500 tons. The cool, wet weather brought plenty of moisture to the soil and now some "nice warm weather, not hot," is needed to bring the logans the rest of the way, he said.

Report Complete on Future Needs

Mini-Metro Sewage Bill May Be $25,000,000

By TED PULFORD

The long-awaited Capital Region sewer survey report, detailing the future disposal needs of Saanich Peninsula, Colwood and the Greater Victoria area, is now complete.

The survey — one of the most important tasks yet undertaken by the so-called mini-metro regional board — probes the sewage disposal needs of all communities in Greater Victoria.

A team of engineers and specialists, led by City Engineer James Garnett, has been studying the district's sewage disposal needs for more than a year.

They have been working with data supplied by a Vancouver engineering firm assigned to do field work for the study.

Details of the report remain secret, pending study by appropriate committees and councils, but it is expected a price tag in excess of $25,000,000 would be set on the whole project.

ENOUGH FOR CITY

Victoria's involvement in the proposal is in doubt, since present local facilities — with proposed changes — will provide adequate service for the needs of the city itself.

Since the municipalities involved use the sea as their common sewage dumping ground, however, overloaded disposal systems in one municipality can become a serious problem elsewhere along the coast.

Discussing disposal problems in general Monday, Mr. Garnett pointed out the city system functions with remarkable efficiency considering its age.

MORE PRODUCTION

For it appears the city's pioneers did their planning well. In the 1890's a system was completed which was designed to accommodate a population of 60,000 people — just about the number now living in Victoria.

In the years since the system was completed, however, per-capita production of sewage waste has risen 500 per cent. The three major city outlets at Ross Bay, Clover Point and Macaulay Point are doing their jobs reasonably well, Mr. Garnett said, but considerable work will be necessary before they can be considered completely satisfactory.

OFFSHORE DISTANCE

A matter of major concern — which the report is expected to deal with — is the distance the outlets throw pipe sewage offshore before emptying their contents into the sea.

In this first attempt at a regional attack on pollution problems, the report will be forced to come to grips with certain extremely difficult decisions.

WHEN POLLUTED?

What, for instance, is a reasonable criterion for water pollution? Is water polluted only when it becomes a health hazard, or is it to be considered polluted the moment it comes into contact with any sewage whatsoever?

While Mr. Garnett declined to comment specifically on the contents of the report, he made it clear he contemplates no changes in the city's long-term plans for improvements to the system.

Among these plans is an extension of the Clover Point outfall for a considerable distance. The James Bay region, now functioning entirely on septic tanks, will be hooked into the general system.

Summer Serenity

Sunshine May Linger

Maybe the July 4 tourists had something to do with it, but Victoria turned on eight and a half hours of sunshine Monday.

There could be more of the same today, says the Gonzales Hill weather forecast office.

After a weekend deluge which brought more rain to Victoria than falls in an average July, the weatherman Monday night was optimistic that there'll be sun for the next two days.

WET WEEKEND

The forecast says temperatures will go into the 70s and brief morning cloudiness will be followed by the sun.

Rainfall Friday, Saturday and Sunday amounted to .89 inches, compared to a normal fall of .07 inches for that three-day period. The normal rainfall for the whole month is .57 inches.

POOR OUTLOOK

However, anyone thinking the weekend was bad had better steel himself.

The 30-day weather outlook prepared Monday forecast below normal temperatures and heavy precipitation.

After a cool, wet spring that hasn't yet turned into a real summer, Victorians have been looking forward to July, which in an average year gets 337 hours of sunshine.

Funeral services will be held in Massel for Mrs. Florence Stott, resident of Victoria for 60 years, who died there Sunday at 90.

She is survived by: daughter, Mrs. S. L. Simpson, with whom she had lived for three years in Massel; son Arthur of Victoria; six grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

Fourth Library Plan Given Nod by Curtis

Reeve Hugh Curtis told Saanich council Monday he believes the fourth draft of a proposed inter-municipal library agreement to be a good one.

"I view this as an agreement for this year and possibly for the early part of next year," he said.

The agreement proposes a Greater Victoria Library Board containing three voting members from the city, three from Saanich and one each from Esquimalt and Oak Bay.

The year's $469,350 library budget will be shared by the four participants on a basis of 75 per cent book usage, and 25 per cent on population.

Victoria's share will be $192,520; Saanich, $176,190; Oak

Bay, $73,240, and Esquimalt $28,600.

Coun. Alan Newberry, council's library board representative, agreed it as a good proposal but said he is not wholly satisfied.

JOINT OWNERS

"I cannot see why we can't be joint owners in the library," he said.

He told council it is on record that both Oak Bay and Saanich have contributed to the capital costs of the library.

Coun. Newberry also said that six per cent of the budget would be taken by Victoria for the library's accounting procedures, and at the time had city to take over these duties.

FORM OF CONTROL

Reeve Curtis said that if a council is handling the accounting it is actually a form of control.

"I'm quite willing to pay the six per cent to have this built-in control," he said.

Council decided to take the agreement until the next meeting, and also ask the municipal solicitor's opinion on the agreement.

The bylaw on dogs in the municipality will be more rigidly enforced. The pound keepers will be told to not only pick up all loose dogs, but, also where possible, to lay charges against the owners.

Comedian Determined

Barbed Line No Joke

Bob Hope is proving to Victoria's fishing crowd that he's as determined as he is funny.

The comedian Sunday caught a 25-pound, 2-ounce spring salmon off Oak Bay Marina and entered it in the Colonist's King Fisherman contest.

But that wasn't enough. He went out Monday — catching nothing — and will try his luck again today, determined to hook at least a 30-pounder in Victoria's waters.

He was a mile off Oak Bay Sunday evening, aboard the Mv. Lakewood, when he caught the salmon and a 15-pound ling cod.

"He played the salmon really well," said marina manager Bob Wright. "I certainly was impressed. He's an expert all right."

Guide Howard Pepper, who's also with the marinas, said Hope was using a Super 8 fish on a troll of about 75 feet when the salmon grabbed the hook.

Oak Bay Golf waitress Lily Hammond, 20, is given first-hand lesson by comedian Bob Hope.

"He was very happy," said Mr. Pepper. "He's a real gentleman and it was a pleasure to fish with him."

Last year at Campbell River, the 63-year-old comedian landed a 28-pound salmon, a catch which he wants to better this time.

He's staying at the Empress Hotel with Hollywood producer Charlie Hogan and British actress Selena Trent, who's playing in one Mr. Hogan's movies.

Describing Victoria Golf Club's greens as "about the finest in the world," he's spent a few leisurely hours on the course. Sunday afternoon, he played 11 holes and was "three or four" over par.

The group will leave for Hollywood Wednesday but Mr. Hope will return later for a fishing cruise aboard the yacht Campana, owned by G. Max Bell, chairman of EP Publications. (Another view of Mr. Hope's work appears on Page 15.)

Salt Spring Island

'Only Place on Earth Worth Living'

By BEA HAMILTON

FULFORD — More than 100 friends arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gyves on Sunday to congratulate them on their Golden Wedding anniversary.

Cards of congratulations came from Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes, Prime Minister Pearson, and the Hon. W. A. C. Bennett, premier of B.C. Gifts from relations and close friends and good wishes filled the small home of the Gyves. A three-tier cake, made by their daughter Phyllis (Mrs. Al Russell of Colwood) was the highlight of the tea table. Flowers were all over the house and the daughters, Dora (Mrs. R. Dorkis) and Phyllis (Mrs. Russell) were hostesses, with the younger daughter Mrs. Shirley Rees.

Mr. Bill Cotsford of Shawnigan Lake, surprised his sister, Mrs. Gyves, by adding his presence to the Open House and bringing good wishes.

There is a lot of history behind the Gyves family: Mrs. Gyves' father, the late Michael Gyves, left his homeland in Ireland at the age of 18, arrived in Oregon, joined the American Army for five years, and then, after his discharge, he joined in the Cariboo gold rush, did not make a fortune, so came to Victoria; there he met the late John Maxwell (for whom Mr. Baynes was named locally, it is not officially, Mr. Maxwell), and was persuaded that Salt Spring Island was the only place on earth worth living on.

So the elder Gyves joined the rush to the Island, coming via canoe packed by Indians, in 1864. He pre-empted 110 acres in Burgoyne Valley, taking in a then beautiful cedar grove, with the idea in mind of cutting and shipping cedar shakes to Victoria, where there was a good market in 1864.

"My father raised cattle and at that time there was a good market for butter, garden produce and eggs," said Mr. Gyves. His father married a cousin of old-timer Adolphe Trage's wife, Beaver Point district. Mike Gyves grew up on the farm, attended the little red schoolhouse in the Valley and lived here ever since.

He married Carrie Cotsford 50 years ago at the north end of Salt Spring Island and brought his bride to Fulford. In 1920, Mrs. Gyves, then a young bride, joined the Women's Institute which was inaugurated that year. "I was pushed in front of the president, Mrs. Dick Maxwell, our first president, and Mrs. Margaret Reid, the first secretary, to go from door to door to raise funds to build the first hall in Fulford," said Mrs. Gyves. She didn't want to knock on doors but the other two said she was the youngest and people would always shell out to a bride. It worked quite well.

The first Fulford hall was opened in 1921, May 16th, by the late M. P. N. B. Jackson. Mrs. Gyves has been a member ever since and very active in the work. She has been president and secretary, and is the only Charter member living of the local W.I. She was awarded honorary membership and presented with W.I. pin and a Citation last year.

The Gyves have been a happy couple and worked in the community all these years, made many friends and have five daughters: Miss Valerie Gyves, Portland, Ore., Mrs.

Doris Dorkis, Victoria, Mrs. Phyllis Russell, Colwood, Mrs. Deena Sanderson, N. Van., and Mrs. Shirley Rees, Langford.

Victoria Jaycettes Outstanding Unit

Mr. Cred Richards, president of the Jaycettes, received the award on behalf of her club at the awards luncheon held Saturday in Edmonton at the national convention of the Jaycettes.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband has a thing about placing long distance telephone calls. He just hates to do it. So I must take over this thankless chore.

If he would tell me who he wants to call and leave me alone, everything would be fine. But, no — he stands by the phone, makes motions with his eyes and his hands, writes notes and shoves them in my face. When he begins to pull at my arm and shout instructions at me, I get mad. The long distance operators must think I'm a subnormal child.

Last night I told him I won't place any more calls for him unless he leaves me alone. He says he wouldn't yell at me if I did it right. We've had so many arguments over this that I'm turning to you in desperation. Please help — DIAL 211.

Dear Dial: Ask your husband to write down (a) the name of the person he wishes to reach and (b) whether he wants you to place a person-to-person call or a station call.

Ask him to wait in another room until you have the party on the line or word that the party cannot be reached. This should put an end to the problem.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a boy who is almost 14 years old and very worried about something. I have been the shortest kid in my class ever since I can remember. Mom keeps telling me I'll catch up and not to worry about it. But I am not catching up and some of the guys I hang around with are almost 6 feet tall.

Could smoking be the cause of me not growing? Please answer in your newspaper article. Thank you. — SAWED OFF RUNT.

basic human drives that keeps the earth populated.

I do think, however, that a girl who would refuse to date a fellow because he doesn't turn her on, makes a big mistake. The most enduring kind of love doesn't make you go bonking; it makes you go bonking the minute your eyes meet his. — J. W.

Dear Ann Landers: My mother and I had an argument last night. It all began when a fellow I grew up with asked me out. (We are the same age, 17.) I dated him twice during spring vacation and decided not to date him any more because he is just like a brother.

My mother likes this guy a lot. When she heard me turn him down she became upset and asked why I would refuse to date such a wonderful fellow. When I told her I didn't get a charge out of him she looked at me like I was a scarlet woman or something.

I tried to explain that when a boy holds my hand or puts his arm around me I want to feel a certain little excitement. She said I was "disgusting." When I asked her how she could have married daddy if she didn't get a charge out of him, she gave me a lecture on my dirty mind.

I would like your opinion on this argument and your verdict. — J. W.

Dear J. W.: There is nothing disgusting or dirty about that "certain little feeling of excitement." It is as natural as hunger or thirst. It is one of the

Assoon-MacCormac Wedding

Gown Hand Sewn in China

A wedding of interest in Victoria took place at St. Anselm's Church, on the University Campus, Vancouver recently, when Judy Lyn MacCormac, daughter of Sqdn. Ldr. and Mrs. J. W. D. MacCormac, was married to Felix A. Assoon, son of Mrs. P. Babulal of Trinidad. The church was decorated with white lilac and the entire wedding was in blue and white theme. On the arm of her father, the bride entered the church to the Cebell fanfare by Purcell. She was radiant in an original, floor-length gown she designed from a medieval tapestry. The gown was hand-sewn in China. Made of white duchesse satin, its simple design with high waist-line was dramatically enhanced by a sweeping train and a front panel of purple lace encrusted with hand-sewn pearls. The lace and pearl detail trimmed the train, the sleeves, the bodice and the skirt. Her only jewelry was an heirloom pearl necklace, gift of her maid of honor. She carried a sunburst bouquet of white roses and stephanotis. Single blooms of stephanotis were entwined in her hair. Her veil was a single tier of French illusion. The couple was united in marriage with rings designed by Cavelti of Vancouver. The bride's sole attendant, Miss Sheridan Minaker, was elegant in a full-length gown and coat ensemble, designed by Jean Patou of France. Of Mediterranean-blue duchesse satin, its classic empire-line was highlighted with the same sleeve detail as the bride's gown. Her gown was also hand-sewn in China. Two rose-like clusters of white gladioli petals framed her face. Her bouquet was a sunburst cluster of gladioli. The groom's attendant was Mr. Clyde Griffith and guests were shown to their pews by Mr. Bry MacCormac, brother of the bride and Mr. B. Tomkow. Miss Carol Clouston sang the Lord's Prayer during the Benediction and Handel's Wedding Hymn while the bridal party was in the Registry. The bride and groom were piped from the church by Pipe Major J. Duncan of the Seaforth Highlanders. The reception was held at the Vancouver Hilton Hotel. The bride was toasted by Mr. Frank Waring of Victoria. Gracing the reception room were beautiful blue and white floral arrangements by Mrs. P. Waring. Blue and white theme was repeated in floral arrangements of iris, lilac, gladioli and stocks set off by huckleberry boughs, especially gathered from Vancouver Island. Mr. Clyde Griffith read telegrams from England, Trinidad and Vancouver Island during dinner. Mr. George Cuba-Rodriguez, of Peru, provided background music. The new Mrs. Assoon wore a walking suit in navy blue and white hound-tooth check for travelling. Her simple pill-box hat was of the same fabric and her accessories were navy blue. Her corsage of white roses and stephanotis was from her bouquet. Mr. and Mrs. Assoon honeymooned in Banff and Harrison Hot Springs. Guests who travelled to Vancouver were Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Waring, Mrs. Claire Knox, Mr. Peter Knox, Mrs. Jack Butt, Miss G. Turkey, Miss C. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Paddy O'D. Walton of Victoria; and Mr. and Mrs. R. Mitchell and Mr. H. Schuch of Texada Island.

Improve Economic Welfare

By LINDA CRAWFORD MONTREAL (CP) — There is an urgent need to improve the economic welfare of the nurse, Isobel MacLeod, president of the Canadian Nurses' Association, said at the opening of the association's biennial meeting Monday. "Nurses feel that they have a right to better salaries, better hours, better conditions of work," she said. "But as a profession, we have been inhibited by a guilty feeling that pressing for our rights somehow conflicts with the professional ethic of 'putting the patient first'." Some 1,500 nurses from across Canada and special international guests are attending the convention, which continues until Friday. The Canadian association claims 80,000 members. Mrs. MacLeod said: "The use of modern bargaining methods is consistent with a healthy self-respect and the dignity of the nursing profession."

Wife Fears Phantoms

DUNSTABLE, England (CP)

A ghost saved a convicted Bedfordshire man from serving his jail sentence. William Haywood, 20, claimed he couldn't leave his teen-age wife alone in their 200-year-old house because she thought it was haunted and was afraid of living there alone. He was fined instead of jailed, and put on probation.

King Fisherman

Henry Rollins has taken over the lead for the King Fisherman Contest, who division with a nine-pound catch he caught June 29 off Beechy Head on Strip-Tearer.

Beechy Bay waters are still giving up the big fish and if Joe Sears' 43.7-pound spring from those waters is going to be beaten the time to do it is now. Charlie Miller beat it from those waters last week with a 52-pounder, but he has a commercial licence and can't enter. But he proved there are bigger ones there.

Dan Carriger found the big brown in Cowichan River July 1, using worm to land a six-pounder and a three-pounder, to

After Study of Canada

New Zealand Turns Back On Services Integration

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent
WELLINGTON (CP) — New Zealand has decided against establishing a unified defence force combining all three services on the Canadian model. The Canadian system has been studied by senior New Zealand defence officials in recent years and at one time it was thought that aspects of it would be adopted here. For several years, New Zealand has moved toward integration of some functions of the forces, especially for civilian defence staff and supply. However, a white paper just issued covering defence policy up to 1970 explains why complete integration is not favored. It said:

Examination has led the government to conclude that such a combined force would not make sense in terms of our principal aim, to gain maximum effect from the level of contribution which New Zealand can make.

NOT LARGE

"The force of this type which New Zealand could afford to maintain in peacetime would never be large enough to give a truly independent role in limited war. Because of the 'separateness' of the three services, the combined force would have to be logistically self-contained or largely so."

"The government has concluded that New Zealand can make a larger, more flexible, and more effective contribution to collective defence and to the demands of the cold war, in the form of three separate services, than with a combined 'balanced' national force."

BASED ON POLICY

The white paper says planning is based on the assumption that New Zealand will continue to reject neutralism or isolationism as a basis of national policy.

Changes in the world scene have been to New Zealand's disadvantage, the review says. Two of the most dangerous situations in the world today, in Indonesia and Viet Nam, closely involve New Zealand.

Strategic assessments are based on the belief that South-east Asia will continue to be a disturbed and unstable area throughout the 1970s, with threats arising from China's active role as an "exporter of revolution" throughout the area.

FRODO BAGGINS

In the longer term, the white paper says, the greatest threat to New Zealand's interest and security comes from the growing power of an uncompromising China.

Taking these considerations into account, the government has concluded that New Zealand defence can only be based on a system of collective security. The government has decided in the period up to 1970 to base the roles of the various services on the following:

Navy—A modern force of fast frigates designed for anti-submarine warfare, shipping escort and general purpose tasks. Four such frigates will be maintained.

Army—A ground contribution to Allied forces in Southeast Asia will be maintained (present an infantry battalion and parachute detachment are in Malaysia and an artillery battery is in Viet Nam). A field force consisting of a combat brigade group and logistic support will be available in New Zealand as a contribution to major hostilities in Southeast Asia. The territorial force will be strengthened by increased conscription intakes under the existing selective national service scheme, and a reserve of ex-regulars will set up for rapid reinforcement of units in emergency.

Air Support—The primary combat role will be close air support operations (ground attack). Existing Canberra bombers will be replaced by 1970 by new aircraft now being evaluated. The other air force roles will be replaced by 1970 by new aircraft now being evaluated. The other air force roles will be replaced by 1970 by new aircraft now being evaluated.

Golden disc artists through the years have included Paul Whiteman, Al Jolson, whose Swayze Boy ranked twice as a million-seller, in 1928 and 1946—Glenn Miller, Judy Garland, Fats Domino and Bill Haley, the man who launched rock 'n' roll.

First Canadian-made record to top the million mark was the French Song, by Lucille Starr of St. Boniface, Man., in 1964. Anka's Diana, which sold an estimated 9,000,000 copies, ranks among the biggest-selling discs of all time. Top of the heap is Bing Crosby's White Christmas with some 25,000,000 sales, followed by Bill Haley's Rock Around the Clock, the pre-war Mills Brothers number Paper Doll and the Beatles' I Want to Hold Your Hand.

Fastest-selling record ever issued was a memorial album of President John F. Kennedy's speeches which sold 4,000,000 copies in six days in December, 1963.

The most recorded songs are Hoagy Carmichael's Stardust and the W. C. Handy New Orleans jazz classic St. Louis Blues, both with about 1,000 different versions.

Rampaging Tiger Killed

Dacca, East Pakistan (Reuters) — Some 250,000 people breathed a sigh of relief, the wheels of two match factories began turning again and workers at a newspaper mill went back to their jobs.

"The Terror of Swarnakhol" was dead.

A bullet ended months of rampaging by a 12-foot, man-eating Bengal tiger which killed 21 persons during its reign of terror in the dense Sunderban forests, the newspaper Dawn reported.

Blast Ship Hard to Sink

NEW YORK (AP)—It took a U.S. coast guard cutter three hours and 57 five-inch explosive shells Sunday to sink the fire-ship in the Atlantic 125 miles off New York. The Alva Cape had been ordered sunk after a collision and two fires, which claimed 37 lives, had left her a charred hulk, still loaded with 150,000 gallons of naphtha.

Financed by a grant from the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Dr. Callahan hopes to answer such questions through a year-long tabulation of pertinent information.

Amblyopia is difficult for parents to detect because the eye may not appear to be defective and the child may seem to watch television and learn to read normally.

Medical men have in the past thought that the ailment could not be corrected and the child that is expected to take the "trial and error" out of current treatment for amblyopia, or lazy eye, a leading factor in partial blindness in children.

Dr. William Callahan of the Hospital for Sick Children said in an interview the current treatment method is to cover the strong eye with a patch so the weak eye is forced to function.

It has been a matter of trial and error because doctors must decide how long the eye should be patched, whether eye exercises should accompany the patching, and whether the patching should be on an intermittent basis.

Tories Seek Funds

A public appeal for campaign and management funds has been launched by B.C.'s Progressive Conservative Party.

Letters asking for financial support to the Conservative Enterprise Fund are being sent out from Tory headquarters at 1132 Howe Street in Vancouver. The letters, signed by Progressive Conservative Association president Stuart Fleming, state that candidates can be elected to Parliament and the legislature only if the party organization functions on a year-round basis.

NOT LIMITED

It has been a dozen years since the Conservatives lost the last seat they held in the Legislative Assembly.

"Our public relations and research operations must be improved," Mr. Fleming stated in the letter. "Organizers must be out in the field advising and assisting wherever necessary."

"The Conservative Enterprise Fund is not limited in any way, nor is the amount of the contribution. Quite frankly we need your fullest possible support."

Kelp Firms Receive Harvest Licences

Twenty-three licences for the harvesting of aquatic plants — each valid to 21 years — were issued by the provincial government Monday to two B.C. kelp harvesting firms.

A cabinet order approved the issuance of six licences to Sidney Seaweed Products of Sidney, and 17 licences to Pacific Kelp Company of Vancouver. All 23 licences will expire on June 30, 1987.

Provincial commercial fisheries officials said the licences are for water areas surrounding Vancouver Island and water along the mainland coast running southwards from the northern tip of Vancouver Island.

Recreation and Conservation Minister Kenneth Kiernan said last week that while he thinks the harvesting of kelp will represent a significant development of another resource in this province, the government reserves the right to cancel any licence where kelp harvesting operations prove detrimental to other resources.

Salesman-of-the-year

The secret of making a business grow is, in most cases, quite simple—win more and more customers spread over a wider and wider area. Nothing helps you find them, sell them, satisfy them and re-sell them so quickly and economically as the skilled use of your telephone. Here are just a few profit-making ideas.

Call for Orders

This big-city truck dealer has no problem about keeping in touch with his many customers and prospects in distant parts of the province.

Head office sales staff follow up leads, arrange demonstrations, solicit orders and maintain contact with established customers by a carefully planned routine of Long Distance calls.

Think of the convenience! He has his customers at his fingertips and keeps right up with their requirements. Cost is negligible compared with operating local offices.

Finally, this dealer also lists a ZENITH number in key centres like Nanaimo, Kamloops and Prince George. It enables customers and prospects there to call him without cost to themselves—another valuable business-builder!

Salesman on the Wing

This salesman is on a trip through his company's market area, extending from Vancouver to the Lakehead. One of the most useful things he carries is his B.C. TEL Long Distance Credit Card.

This enables him to make Long Distance calls from anywhere. He uses it constantly to confirm appointments at his next stopover and contact inconveniently located accounts.

He also keeps in daily touch, of course, with head office: reporting on progress, channeling orders, queries and complaints for fast action; collecting fresh leads as he flies from point to point.

His periodic "swing through the territory" is quite an expensive item of overhead. Long Distance ensures, at minimum cost, that his company gets every last cent of value from it.

"Touring" by Phone

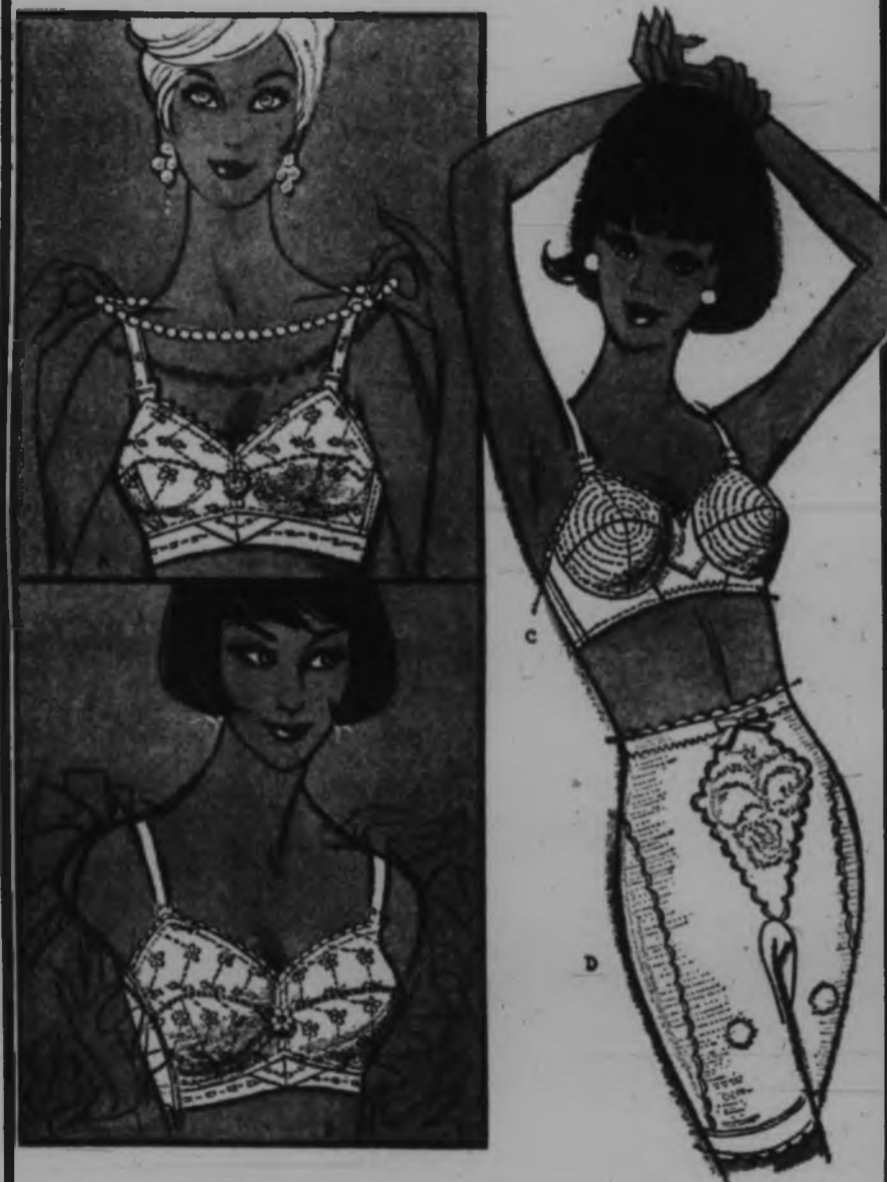

This busy Sales Manager "tours" his area in a morning—with B.C. TEL's Sequence Calling service.

He simply gives the operator the list of Long Distance numbers he wants. She gets them for him in the right order and at the intervals most convenient for his other work.

He holds regular Conference Calls, too, with his company's three other offices in Calgary, Winnipeg and Toronto—all four of them on the line together, talking and listening as though they were in the same room.

There's no end to the profit-making uses of properly planned Long Distance calling. Ask one of our experienced Communication Consultants to explain some of the possibilities for your business—naturally without obligation. Contact him TODAY.

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government will set up a new public service and educational broadcasting system across Canada, it was announced Monday.

This means Ontario, Quebec or other provinces planning to enter the educational broadcasting field will not be granted licences to operate their own stations.

WORK DIRECTLY
The white paper on broadcasting tabled in the Commons Monday says Ottawa will work directly with the provinces in planning the educational system but the federal government will own and operate the stations.

CBC Boss May Be Out

By RON COLLISTER
And FRASER KELLY
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The federal government's white paper on broadcasting is a vote of non-confidence in CBC president J. Alphonse Ouimet and his executives, opposition leader Diefenbaker declared last night.

Not so, said State Secretary LaMarsh, the minister who reports to the cabinet for the CBC.

But Miss LaMarsh would not say if Mr. Ouimet will be reappointed when legislative changes are made some time next year, weakening CBC powers and beefing up the Board of Broadcast Governors as the super-power in Canadian broadcasting.

Mr. Ouimet was reported analyzing the white paper, contemplating his future and pondering whether to resign.

The white paper calls for a president who would be chairman of the CBC board of directors and responsible for broad policy, and a chief executive officer who would govern all CBC operations and report to the board.

Aked if Mr. Ouimet would continue as president, Miss LaMarsh said: "I don't know. It would be a new appointment after there was a new act (next year). I don't know if he would wish to serve or the government would wish to appoint him."

Miss LaMarsh said Mr. Ouimet "has shown a great deal of courage in the past months" while under fire over the controversy over This Hour Has Seven Days, and added:

"I can't say I have had hundreds of people rushing to me to be president of the CBC."

The minister said the intention is to create two jobs for two different kinds of people. The president at the top would be a man of "considerable breadth, a creatively-oriented person, who has a strong concept of the country and its needs."

$30,000,000 Program

Ottawa Plans Rescue Fleet

VANCOUVER (CP)—A federal transport department official said Monday the government will spend $30,000,000 on a deepsea rescue fleet for the west and east coasts.

Gordon Stead, assistant deputy transport minister in charge of marine services, said plans for six of the vessels are in the design stage.

The news caused Harold Husband, president of Victoria Machinery Depot, and John Wallace, general manager of Yarrow, to say their shipyards hope to bid on the west-coast part of the fleet.

TENDERS SOON

Tenders for construction of the first of the $5,000,000 ships will be called by the government in the next few weeks, Mr. Stead said. It will go into service in the maritimes in two years and the second vessel of the fleet will join the west coast service three years from now.

Mr. Stead, an Ottawa-based economist, was in Vancouver for the official acceptance of the Canadian Coast Guard ship Vancouver and the christening of its sister ship, the Quadra, Monday night.

CRITICISM NOTED

He said that since the Canadian Coast Guard was formed under his direction five years ago from the old Canadian Marine Service, there has been "quite a bit" of criticism over the lack of deepsea rescue vessels.

Mr. Stead said the Coast Guard has been forced to confine most of its marine rescue activities to coastal waters because of the limited size of the rescue vessels at its disposal.

WITH HELICOPTER

All of the deepsea ships would be approximately 234 feet in length. They would be capable of a top speed of 20 knots and equipped with helicopters. B.C. would get two, the Maritimes four.

"The need seems to be more severe in the east," said Mr. Stead.

Queen Brick Target

By GODFREY ANDERSON

BELFAST (AP) — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip narrowly escaped injury Monday when part of a heavy cement block crashed on to their car as they drove through the streets of this tense Northern Ireland capital.

The block, thrown from the fourth floor of a building under reconstruction, hit the radiator of the royal limousine.

Had it fallen a few feet further back it would have shattered the bubble-top glass covering above the Queen's head.

YOUTH SEIZED

Police rushed into the building and seized a youth. They had to smuggle him out a back way to prevent his being lynched by a howling crowd of angry Belfast citizens.

Only two minutes earlier, as the royal couple left the city hall after a civic luncheon, a woman rushed out of a hotel opposite and hurled a beer bottle at their car. It burst near the wheels. She, too, was arrested.

CAR SPEEDS AWAY

When the cement block hit the royal car, the Queen and Philip looked shocked. The car sped away but, after turning a corner a few yards up the street, resumed the normal stately speed along the processional route.

"The crowd went wild," said Gerald Lappin, who works next door to the building from which the block was thrown. "The Queen and the Duke (Prince Philip) seemed shocked but they remained very calm."

The Queen's visit to Northern Ireland at this time has been the subject of controversy because of religious conflict between Protestants and Roman Catholics which has claimed three lives in Belfast in the last few weeks.

Members of the British Parliament asked Prime Minister Wilson to advise the Queen not to come here because her safety could not be guaranteed.

The royal day started under the watchful eyes of 3,000 police.

Bombers Hit Key Targets

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. air power continued to hit enemy targets in both North and South Viet Nam, spokesmen reported Monday. Key targets were a strategic oil depot near Haiphong and a missile site near Hanoi in the North and Viet Cong guerrilla concentrations in the South.

This was the main point of the federal government's 4,850-word white paper on broadcasting, disclosed Monday. The paper must be studied by the Commons broadcasting committee, probably this fall, before the necessary legislation is drafted and passed some time next year.

But organizational changes proposed in the CBC will be made at once. State Secretary LaMarsh, whose department includes the CBC, said these changes would re-establish confidence inside the CBC.

"I would read them an startling yesterday," she said.

The white paper's principal points:

Haiphong Protests Boil Everywhere

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Protests over U.S. air attacks on the Hanoi - Haiphong area in North Viet Nam rang out around the world Monday.

About 4,500 Japanese police shielded U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk from demonstrators as he arrived in Tokyo for an economic conference. Rusk had to be hustled into the city by a back road.

Shouting "Rusk go home" and carrying placards reading "go home boss of war," the demonstrators lined the main airport highway. Estimates of the number of demonstrators ranged from 30,000 down to 5,000.

In Paris, a group of Americans calling for the United States to get out of Viet Nam tried to march on the U.S. Embassy.

Communist demonstrators seized control of the procession and led it into a battle with police around the embassy.

In London, Prime Minister Wilson gave way to demands from his party's left wing and scheduled a debate in the House of Commons Thursday on the American bombings. There were two anti-American demonstrations, one at the U.S. Embassy and another at a July 4 reception given by U.S. Ambassador David Bruce.

Elsewhere:

Oslø — About 500 Norwegians demonstrated outside the U.S. Embassy.

Reykjavik — About 50 Icelandic communists demonstrated quietly outside the American Embassy.

Frankfurt — West German demonstrators hung a banner reading, "1776 independence for the U.S.A., for Viet Nam independence now," across the street from the U.S. consulate.

Hamburg — About 3,000 persons marched from Hamburg University to the U.S. consulate.

Munich — About 500 demonstrators paraded through Munich's Bohemian Schwabing district.

Stockholm — Twenty youths continued a fast in a Swedish protest against the bombings. They sat on a street adjoining the U.S. Embassy.

Navy Plane Crashes Four Dead

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP) — A U.S. Navy passenger plane swooped low over farm land northeast of here Monday and crashed into fields and woods, killing all four men aboard.

Navy sources said the plane, a four-engine Lockheed Electra, was en route from New York to California, with a stop planned in Chicago.

Four navy officers from the Grosse Ile, Mich., naval air station flew here to investigate.

The crash set several small fires in the woods and fields.

The big plane carried a crew of only four and no passengers, but was capable of carrying up to 80 passengers. It was on a routine training mission.

ADAK ISLAND, Alaska (AP) — A moderate earthquake was felt at the U.S. naval station here at 7:34 a.m. Bering Standard Time (10:34 a.m. PDT) Monday but no damage or seismic wave action resulted.

Mr. Maceachen, on the other hand, has refused to make the announcement at other stages in the Commons proceedings because he doesn't want to appear to be caving in to opposition pressure.

If he makes his statement at the conclusion of the C.A.P. debate there is no way the opposition can debate it.

Tempera began to wear thin Monday night as opposition spokesmen took the floor one after another to blast the C.A.P. "SANCTIMONIOUS BUNK"

At the end of the evening government House leader George McIlraith said the action "was not conducive to bringing Parliament into the high esteem we would wish."

New Democrat Reid Scott replied: "I've heard a lot of sanctimonious bunk but that statement tops them all."

Patriotic Party

Ultra-Rightists Enter Politics

By D. J. E. BRUCKNER

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (LAT) — The New Patriotic Party has set up organizations in 43 states and has arranged for election of officers and establishment of party machinery in four other states, the provisional president of the new organization announced Monday.

The organizations set up this weekend consist primarily of state party officers who will return to the states to organize the party at a grass-roots level, he said.

Robert B. DePugh, national co-ordinator of the radical right-wing paramilitary group, The Minutemen, is acting as head of the new party for the next year. He made the announcement of state organizations at the closing session of the Patriotic Party's founding convention here.

Organization committees for the states were set up during closed meetings Sunday night and Monday morning. Regional conventions of the party will be held in six cities on Aug. 6 and 7.

According to DePugh, the Patriotic Party is intended to bring together the nation's ultra-conservative groups into a national political front which will be supported by various secret, paramilitary groups, referred to by DePugh and other delegates as "the underground."

The Patriots hope to run candidates for Congress in 1968 and 1970 and a presidential ticket in 1972.

DePugh told the delegates

he hopes to see a nationwide burst of enthusiasm for the party idea within the next 90 days and he called that period critical for the survival of the party.

Delegates included members of a number of ultra-conservative groups, but DePugh said they were attending as individuals, not as official group representatives in most cases.

The new business, which has opened its doors in Courtenay is

According to the owners, orders are coming in well, some from local customers and others from around the Island. A few inquiries have been made by Nanaimo car dealers, but local dealers received top priority at present.

The warning comes following the recent discovery of a Second World War hand grenade in a Parksville flower garden.

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government will set up a new public service and educational broadcasting system across Canada, it was announced Monday.

This means Ontario, Quebec or other provinces planning to enter the educational broadcasting field will not be granted licences to operate their own stations.

The white paper on broadcasting tabled in the Commons Monday says Ottawa will work directly with the provinces in planning the educational system, but the federal government will own and operate the stations.

A new federal agency, separate from the CBC and subject to the regulations of the Board of Broadcast Governors, will be set up.

Bombers Hit Key Targets

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. air power continued to hit enemy targets in both North and South Viet Nam, spokesmen reported Monday. Key targets were a strategic oil depot near Haiphong and a missile site near Hanoi in the North and Viet Cong guerrilla concentrations in the South.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A federal transport department official said Monday the government will spend $30,000,000 on a deepsea rescue fleet for the west and east coasts.

Gordon Stead, assistant deputy transport minister in charge of marine services, said plans for six of the vessels are in the design stage.

The news caused Harold Husband, president of Victoria Machinery Depot, and John Wallace, general manager of Yarrow's, to say their shipyards hope to bid on the west-coast part of the fleet.

TENDERS SOON

Tenders for construction of the first of the $5,000,000 ships will be called by the government in the next few weeks, Mr. Stead said. It will go into service in the maritimes in two years and the second vessel of the fleet will join the west coast service three years from now.

Mr. Stead, an Ottawa-based economist, was in Vancouver for the official acceptance of the Canadian Coast Guard ship Vancouver and the christening of its sister ship, the Quadra, Monday night.

CRITICISM NOTED

He said that since the Canadian Coast Guard was formed under his direction five years ago from the old Canadian Marine Service, there has been "quite a bit" of criticism over the lack of deepsea rescue vessels.

Mr. Stead said the Coast Guard has been forced to confine most of its marine rescue activities to coastal waters because of the limited size of the rescue vessels at its disposal.

WITH HELICOPTER

All of the deepsea ships would be approximately 234 feet in length. They would be capable of a top speed of 20 knots and equipped with helicopters. B.C. would get two, the Maritimes four.

"The need seems to be more severe in the east," said Mr. Stead.

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — Air Force Gen. Rene Barrientos Monday appeared to have won easily election to the Bolivian presidency. With nearly half of the votes counted, he led his closest rival by more than 180,000 votes.

Queen Brick Target

BELFAST (AP) — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip narrowly escaped injury Monday when part of a heavy cement block crashed on to their car as they drove through the streets of this tense Northern Ireland capital.

The block, thrown from the fourth floor of a building under reconstruction, hit the radiator of the royal limousine.

Had it fallen a few feet further back it would have shattered the bubble-top glass covering above the Queen's head.

YOUTH SEIZED

Police rushed into the building and seized a youth. They had to smuggle him out a back way to prevent his being lynched by a howling crowd of angry Belfast citizens.

Only two minutes earlier, as the royal couple left the city hall after a civic luncheon, a woman rushed out of a hotel opposite and hurled a beer bottle at their car. It burst near the wheels. She, too, was arrested.

CAR SPEEDS AWAY

When the cement block hit the royal car, the Queen and Philip looked shocked. The car sped away but, after turning a corner a few yards up the street, resumed the normal stately speed along the processional route.

"The crowd went wild," said Gerald Lapsin, who works next door to the building from which the block was thrown. "The Queen and the Duke (Prince Philip) seemed shocked but they remained very calm."

CBC Boss May Go Diefenbaker Claims

But Miss LaMarsh would not say if Mr. Oumet will be reappointed when legislative changes are made some time next year, weakening CBC powers and beefing up the Board of Broadcast Governors as the super-power in Canadian broadcasting.

Mr. Oumet was reported analyzing the white paper, contemplating his future and pondering whether to resign. The white paper calls for a president who would be chairman of the CBC board of directors and responsible for broad policy, and a chief executive officer who would govern all CBC operations and report to the board.

Asked if Mr. Oumet would continue as president, Miss LaMarsh said: "I don't know. It would be a new appointment after there was a new set (next year). I don't know if he would wish to serve or the government would wish to appoint him."

Miss LaMarsh said Mr. Oumet "has shown a great deal of courage in the past months" while under fire over the controversy over This Hour Has Seven Days. The minister said the intention is to create two jobs for two different kinds of people. The president at the top would be a man of "considerable breadth, a creatively-oriented person, who has a strong concept of the country and its needs."

Youths Blown Into Sea

Two Central Saanich youths were blasted into the water in Brentwood Bay when their boat blew up and sank in minutes at 9 p.m. Monday, but a fish-cries department boat arrived in seconds.

Alan McWilliam, 20, of 337 Marchand, is in satisfactory condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital suffering extensive burns. Boat owner Ian Ladell, 20, of 2020 Brentwood, is in good condition in Rest Haven Hospital in Sidney with second-degree burns to his face, arms and hands.

The two were a few hundred yards from the Anchorage boat moorage, operated by George McWilliam, father of Alan. Witnesses said the youths had just finished boating a 25-pound salmon after an hour-long battle when the 25-foot cruiser's gas supply blew up for unknown reasons.

bring together the nation's ultra-conservative groups into a national political front which will be supported by various secret, paramilitary groups, referred to by DePugh and other delegates as "the underground." The Patriots hope to run candidates for Congress in 1968 and 1970 and a presidential ticket in 1972.

DePugh told the delegates he hopes to see a nationwide burst of enthusiasm for the party-idea within the next 90 days and he called that period critical for the survival of the party.
